

BIRD AND CAVE MEN TACTICS USED IN AIR AND LAND STRATEGY

AIRMAN STALKS AND WINGS BALLOON WITH MACHINE GUN

Paris, Oct. 27.—Sergeant Aviator "G. G.," who recently destroyed a German captive balloon and an aeroplane on one trip, describes his double exploit as follows:

"When we got over the Boche our balloon emerged from a sea of clouds fifteen miles away. Being wary we made a wide detour so as to bear down upon it from its own lines.

"On the way, however, we came upon a sentinel aeroplane, which being beneath us did not appear to see us. Our pilot pushed his engine to thirteen hundred revolutions and dropped vertically upon the enemy. My position was precarious, my body hanging out over space clinging to a strut with the left hand, my right hand on the butt of a machine gun. At 350 yards I opened fire. Instantly the Boche swerved to flee, but he got across us and I gave him a broadside. He pitched downward into the clouds.

"We were then within three miles of the balloon. We advanced crab-wise, jumping from cloud to cloud. When 300 yards above it, I opened with the second gun.

"In twelve seconds it was all over. I leaned over and could see the balloon half deflated lying on the trees. The German batteries saw nothing and did not fire on us.

"We waltzed home, delirious with joy, photographing each other on the way."

USE CLUBS STUDDED WITH BOOT TACKS ON GERMAN HEADS

Toronto, Ont., Oct. 27.—British troops fighting in Flanders have adopted the weapon of the ancient cave man for hand to hand fighting in the trenches, according to a letter received by the Rev. A. Logan Geggie from his nephew who is at the front with the Canadian contingent.

In his letter, the writer says:

"For our very latest weapon we have gone back to the early days. It is a club, or according to the military vocabulary a 'knobkerrie,' a wooden affair similar to a policeman's truncheon weighted with lead and very liberally studded with boot tacks. It is for hot hand to hand affairs in a narrow trench.

"This morning a daredevil corporal of ours with four companies crept over to the German listening posts armed with these weapons.

"A listening post is merely a saphead run out from the main fire trench. It is a post in which one listens for sounds of movements, patrols, etc.

"In this case the Germans (Bavarian Landwehr) were listening. Our chaps just reached over the parapet and clamped them on the nut and three very astonished Fritzies returned to consciousness in our number 42 trench. Some weapon is that club."

BURN CHURCHES-SLAY CHRISTIANS

Peking, Sept. 29. (Correspondence of the Associated Press).—Letters from Belgian priests telling of the burning of churches and the slaughter of Christians in Kansu have been received by the Belgian legation in Peking and by Father Hoogers, who is in charge of the Belgian mission headquarters in Shanghai. The uprising occurred at Hoi-Hsien on August 15. It was at first reported to have grown out of the movement to change the form of China's government, but this probably is not true. The riot was largely a demonstration against oppression on the part of officials who have levied excessive taxes. Two Christian churches were burned and five Chinese Christians were killed by the mob of 200,000 as the Belgian priests made their escapes. Thousands of other natives fled into the hills from Hoi-Hsien. Most property of Christians was destroyed. The military was unable to check the mob. This riot is typical of uprisings occurring frequently in some of the interior provinces far from military centres.

Shake Hands Across Serbia

Berlin, Oct. 27. (Via London).—Direct connection between the Austro-German forces in Serbia and the Bulgarian army of General Roudjef has been established on the Danube river to the east of Bra Palanka, according to the official announcement given out today by the German army headquarters staff.

Berlin, Oct. 27. (Via London).—The Russian positions over a German troops under Field Marshal Von Hindenburg have penetrated fighting in the Dvinsk region.

Serbs Smash A Bulgar Line

Saloniki, Oct. 26. (Via Paris).—The Bulgarians have been completely driven out of Serbia on a line extending from the French sector to Kraljevo and Lakedavan. They have been pushed back also from Vele to the outskirts of Istip, probably rendering their Kumanovo-Vranja line untenable owing to the menacing of a Serbian attack on both sides.

NOTE TO ENGLAND

Washington, Oct. 27.—The American note to Great Britain protesting against the order in council and interference with American trade is now en route to London by special messenger. Alexander W. Mitchell, third secretary of the American embassy to Berlin, who will deliver it to Ambassador Page next Monday.

TYPHOON KILLS 170

Manila, Oct. 27.—The typhoon in Southern Luzon killed at least 170 persons and injured nearly 800. Damage to property and total hemp and rice crops is estimated at $1,000,000. A heavy landslide involved a portion of the volcano of Mayon.

GERARD MAY INTERVENE

Washington, Oct. 27.—Acting representations of the Belgian minister to the United States Secretary Lansing has instructed Ambassador Gerard at Berlin to use his influence if the circumstances warrant in behalf of the 30 or more persons sentenced to death by the German court martial at Liege for espionage and treason.

OUT OF WORK

Hamilton, O., Oct. 27.—When workmen at the Black and Clawson plant presented their demands for an eight-hour day and increased pay here today the company countered their move by laying them off.

Seventy-five men were thrown out of work.

Champion On Typewriter

New York, Oct. 27.—Miss Margaret B. Owen, of New York, has again won the world's championship as a typewriter operator and the $1,000 trophy which goes with the title. Miss Owen maintained for an hour an average of 136 words a minute. Her previous record was 132 words a minute.

MORE TROOPS FOR BORDER

El Paso, Texas, Oct. 27.—The Seventh and Twentieth Infantry regiments today were ordered from Fort Bliss to reinforce United States troops at Douglas, Arizona, where General Callen, of the Arizona National Guard, with three thousand men, at August Prieta, across the border, faces an attack by General Villa with 2,000 troops.

Will Take Miracle To Save The Serbians

London, Oct. 27.—The desperate plight of the Serbians which has been described ever since the beginning of the Austro-German and Bulgarian invasions as "an affair of national life or death," is no longer a historical phrase but the literal truth. London's optimism regarding the outcome of the Balkan conflict which had been colored by reports of the determined Serbian resistance and the difficulties which the invaders are meeting, has now yielded to the conviction that it will take something in the nature of a miracle to avert a disaster for Serbia.

Lord Lansdowne's exposition of the Macedonian campaign in the house of Lords yesterday is regarded as an indication that the assistance the allies have been able to offer Serbia is not sufficient to meet her needs. The appeal of the Serbian premier to England "to do everything you can to ensure your troops reaching as soon as possible," intimates the resistance of the Serbians is nearing its last stage. Austro-German and Bulgarian forces are now within twenty miles of each other. Southwest and southeast of Belgrade invading armies are advancing along a hundred mile front, 25 to 40 miles south of the Danube. Analysis of the situation in regard to the Belgrade-Nish-Saloniki railroad shows that the Germans command the first fifty miles from Belgrade, the Serbians the next 150, the Bulgarians the next 100 and the French the last 50 miles to the Greek frontier.

CUPID VERY BUSY AT WHITE HOUSE

Miss Isabelle Hagner, of Washington, who during several administrations has been the social secretary of the White House, it is announced, is to marry Mr. Norman James, a prominent Baltimorean. The wedding day has been fixed for next month and will be one of the big social events of the season because of the prominence of the principals.

CLENDENING TO CONTEST

Columbus, Oct. 27.—Announcement was made today that the fight of Byron M. Clendening, member of the State Liquor Licensing Board, to retain his office from which he was declared ousted by Governor Willis last week after a hearing, will be started in the supreme court either Friday or Saturday this week. Mr. Clendening will file suit in mandamus to secure his pay, which has been withheld since the governor issued his removal order. It was considered improbable today that Governor Willis would name a successor to Mr. Clendening unless the McDermott license law is rejected at the referendum election next Tuesday.

FLOWER, MUSIC, FRUIT BILLS MUST BE PAID

Columbus, Oct. 27.—State Auditor Donahay must pay bills for groceries, flowers, music, fruits, engraved invitations and other articles contracted for the Ohio building at the Panama Pacific Exposition by Newton M. Miller, directing commissioner from Ohio, as a result of a decision handed down by the court of appeals today. The court, upon application of Attorney General Turner issued an order directing Donahay to pay the bills. Creditors in San Francisco had threatened to seize the Ohio building unless their claims were paid, and to prevent this action the attorney general had asked the court to order the auditor to settle. The bills amount to $399.92.

FIFTH MAN IN SHIP PLOT IS IN CUSTODY

New York, Oct. 27.—Max Breitung, the fifth man named in the conspiracy which federal detectives allege was formed for the purpose of destroying ships laden with war munitions for the allies, surrendered to the authorities today. He appeared before U. S. Commissioner Houghton, accompanied by counsel, and after the government's complaint had been read to him he was held in $25,000 bail for further hearing next week.

Breitung furnished the necessary bond and was released. He came here directly from Chicago, he said, as soon as he heard of the proceedings in order to give himself up.

Lieutenant Robert Fay, Walter L. Scholz, Paul Dache and Dr. Herbert Kienle, charged with being co-conspirators with Breitung were still held in jail. Their hearing is also set for next week.

Government detectives are busy engaged in an investigation of the alleged plot.

Appointed

Columbus, O., Oct. 27.—State Fire Marshal Bert Buckley today announced these appointments:

W. Scott Reese, Bowling Green, assistant fire marshal, to succeed C. P. Haas, Fremont, salary $1200; Albert H. Sterling, clerk in the office of assistant fire marshal at Dayton, to succeed Miss Rose S. Stutz; Miss Boss M. Keen, clerk in the office of assistant fire marshal at Toledo, to succeed Miss Anna Gaffney.

Bodies Riddled

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 27.—John Pace and wife were found dead in bed at their home on Bullskin Creek, Leslie county, early today, both of the bodies having been riddled with bullets. According to the officers the shots had been fired through a window while the couple were sleeping.

Answers Taft

Springfield, Ohio, Oct. 27.—William J. Bryan spoke in this city this morning on the prohibition question, making a plea for a dry Ohio. He took occasion to answer former President Taft on the stability amendment. He declared that Mr. Taft's advice ought to be made instead of for it, because Mr. Taft, having tried to prevent the adoption of the initiative and referendum, is naturally in favor of anything that will destroy its usefulness.

Mr. Bryan was greeted by a large delegation and escorted to a large tent where he delivered the address. He left here at 11:30 o'clock for Urbana, Ohio.

400 STRIKE

Cleveland, Oct. 27.—Four hundred machinists employed by the Theodore Kuntz Co., makers of automobile bodies for war orders went on a strike here this afternoon after making demands regarding wages and hours on the management.

Rob Train; Jolly Crew

Oklahoma City, Oct. 27.—South-bound Missouri, Kansas and Texas passenger train No. 9, was held up and robbed at 2 o'clock this morning, two miles south of Omaha and nine miles north of Emporia, on the main line from Parsons to Denison, by ten or more masked bandits, who blew the safe in one express car, obtained, it is said, about $9,000 in money and valuables, failed to open three other safes and escaped without attempting to rob passengers.

For more than an hour the bandits worked, and five charges of nitro-glycerine were exploded before the safe was opened. One safe was good-night, disappearing into the darkness, apparently on foot.

After abandoning their work, the robbers are said to have thanked the train crew and wished them good-night, disappearing into the darkness, apparently on foot.

OPPOSE BIG ENGINES

Charleston, W. Va., Oct. 27.—The West Virginia Public Service commission has received a complaint from trainmen on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad against the use of big locomotives between Parkersburg and Grafton, W. Va. They point out that between those points, a distance of 100 miles, there are 23 tunnels and that it is almost impossible for the enginemen to do their work without being in danger of suffocation.

CRITICIZES NAVAL PLAN

New York, Oct. 27.—Secretary Daniels' naval program was criticized as "wholly insufficient" by Henry A. Wood, a member of Mr. Daniels' naval advisory board. Mr. Wood is chairman of the committee of national preparedness and president of the aero club of America. He called upon the administration at Washington to lay before the country a plan which would place the United States positively in the position of the second naval country in the world. He urged that President Wilson tell the people what increases in the navy were necessary, how much the increase would cost and how soon a position as second naval power might be obtained.

Mr. Wood said that the manner in which the national defense estimate, involving the expenditure of $500,000,000 indicates that the impression is sought to be given that an enormous sum is to be spent upon the navy. In reality he said the increases which are actually to be made during the coming year are slight.

KIDNAPPED

El Paso, Texas, Oct. 27.—Ernest F. Ayton, a wealthy British mining man, and the priest (unnamed) of the Guanacavi district of Chihuahua, were kidnapped on Oct. 19 by an armed force whose affiliations are unknown.

One thing I'm thankful for is that after next Tuesday we'll be done with campaigning for at least a month or so. I would like to say a year but suppose long before that somebody'll be kickin' up a row of some sort. If you want any better weather than this don't mention it! Fast—some folks might not like it. Here's for tomorrow:

Ohio—Partly cloudy tonight, warmer in extreme west portion. Thursday partly cloudy and warmer.

Kentucky—Fair tonight, warmer west portion; Thursday partly cloudy and warmer.

West Virginia—Fair tonight, cooler in east portion; Thursday fair and warmer.

WILL ENGLAND SHEATH HER SWORD?

London, Oct. 27.—When Premier Asquith returns to the house of commons tomorrow he will be asked by Arthur Balfour whether an official exchange of views have been carried out between Berlin and London, with the possible effect of the conclusion of an early peace, and whether further steps have been taken. Another of the many questions to be addressed to the Premier is whether he still adheres to the doctrine of international law by the German violation in his Guild Hall speech emperor in ordering wholesale destruction of private property of civilians in this country by Zeppelins. The government will take steps to today asked the Public Utilities Commission to compel the Baltimore and Ohio and other railroads, making intra-state coal shipments from the Eastern Ohio field to make extensive reports to the commission on the details of coal carrying costs.

POLITICS

What was unquestionably the largest and most rousing Democratic rally held in recent years injected new life into the candidates and party workers, Tuesday night, and they entered upon the final days of the campaign with tremendous enthusiasm.

Every precinct in the city was represented by committee members, candidates and workers in such numbers as to inspire a feeling of utmost confidence. The meeting room itself was taxed to overflowing, there not being sufficient chairs to accommodate the number of men present.

Old War Horses Are Lined Up
Particularly gratifying to the campaign committee and candidates was the presence of old-time war horses who had been reported and listed as lake-warm, thereby presaging a united front by the time the eve of battle rolls around.

Reports of a most encouraging nature came from every precinct committee present, though those in charge of the meeting sounded a note of warning against any undue display of over-confidence.

Mayor Adam Frick delivered an address. He said he drew much comfort from the big outpouring of fine appearing body of men, earnestly bent on party success next Tuesday. Particularly pleasing to him, said he, was the political advertisement that appeared in Tuesday evening's Times over the signatures of the campaign committee and giving the names and respective qualifications of the men he had surrounded himself with to run the city government.

Mayor Says He Has Tried To Do Duty
He said that when he started out with his duties two years ago he fully realized it was good service the people were anticipating and he has never since lost sight of that fact and believed good service would bring additional reward. He said it was gratifying to him that the men directly associated with him, had met such a good stamp of approval.

The mayor reiterated his attitude that he does not stand before the public again particularly as a candidate for office but more particularly for something else, as a citizen and taxpayer and it was his greatest hope and desire to preserve the interests of those directly associated with him. He said he granted everybody the right to his own opinion but he believed that opposition to him was disappearing like the mist before the shining sun. The public, he said, was interested in accomplishments and those of his own political faith who have not seen it to their advantage to come around and be more closely associated with him now need but sufficient time to weigh matters and their opposition will entirely vanish. He said he did not make his choice in the way of appointments to stick a thorn in anyone's side but for the service he wished them to perform, adding that he was distinctly proud of their achievements and that the others cannot but help see the great good that has been done. He said the more precinct workers were getting among the people and feeling the popular pulse the more they were bringing to the surface the feeling that actually exists and that it entirely satisfactory. He said people were all chiefly interested in good service and believe those rendering such are entitled to reward and if victory comes to the Democratic ticket next Tuesday it will be because all have been good, conscientious public servants. He said it was the height of his ambition to serve the public as it ought to be served.

"We realize," said he "that the opposition is making our campaign and purposely trying to mislead the public mind."

The mayor fairly brought down the house by his reference to Nate Gilliland. Prefacing his remarks by stating that he wanted to dispense everybody's mind from thinking that "Nate" was worrying him any he said that there was one material thing that ought to be touched upon and not be allowed to go unnoticed.

Sends A Hot One To Nate Gilliland
"Mr. Gilliland," said he, "has laid great stress upon the way I have administered justice in police court. Let me say now and forever that I do not want to gauge my scale of justice by this gentleman. I should indeed feel sorry for the people of Portsmouth were a man to ever occupy the police court bench with such a temperament and disposition as so far to lose his head in public and hurl an ink well at so innocent and inoffensive person as Sundry Woodrow and thereby put him in the hospital and himself in the county jail."

The mayor again repeated that this would be the last time he would ever be a candidate for public office. He had no apologies to make for he felt that he had rendered some service to the people.

Mayor Feels He Deserves Support
He said he did not want to be egotistical but felt his party owed him support for what he himself has done for it. When he came to Scioto county 25 years ago, he said, Democrats were few and far between, but since that time there have been material victories gained and he contributed no small part to them and stood ready to show continued loyalty to whom ever graced the ticket in the future. He concluded by calling on those present to pay him the compliment of helping not only to give him their own solid vote but a tremendous Republican vote to which he believed he was justly entitled, for what he had done for the common welfare of the best city in all Ohio.

A meeting of precinct committee members and candidates exclusively will be held at Democratic headquarters, Thursday evening, for the purpose of perfecting the organization.

Two open air meetings will be held in this city this evening by the Republicans. One in the Second Ward, corner Sinton and Front streets, the other in the Third Ward, corner Eleventh and John streets. N. B. Gilliland will be the principal speaker at the Second Ward meeting, while Geo. W. Sheppard, Frank W. Moulton and others will orate at the Third Ward meeting.

Tomorrow evening, the Republicans of the Fourth Ward will assemble at Distel's Hall, corner Gallia and Lawson streets, where some of the candidates and campaign orators will discuss the issues.

The week's campaign will close with a big general meeting at Republican headquarters at 819 Gallia street Friday evening at seven o'clock.

Some twenty or more deaf mutes of the city attended a meeting at Republican headquarters Tuesday evening, which was addressed in the sign language by William Cooper and Joseph Koss. Both speakers came out strong for the candidacy of H. H. Kaps for mayor, and urged their hearers to support him at the polls next Tuesday. The audience enjoyed the meeting hugely, and applauded the speakers vociferously at times by clapping their hands.

It was a new departure in political activities in this city, and many people dropped in during the evening to witness the first silent political meeting that has been held in this city for years.

Fast Barge Line On Ohio Planned

Of local interest, the Louisville, (Ky.) Herald says:

"A line of steel-barges for the transportation of freight, to be operated by powerful gasoline and electrical machinery, and plying up and down the Ohio and Mississippi rivers on a regular schedule which will be possible under a system of wireless telegraph dispatching, is a brief summary of plans announced here yesterday by Roscoe Kent, head of the operating department of the Inland Navigation company, of New York, a $5,000,000 corporation. Mr. Kent is here in connection with the launching of one of the company's big boats at the Howard Ship Yard in Jeffersonville this month.

Mr. Kent is staying at the Hotel Henry Watterson and last night unfolded his plans for fast freight service which apparently will solve the great problem of economy in transportation.

"At the head of the company, Mr. Kent said, is John H. Bernhart, of New York, who promoted and established the Alabama and New Orleans barge line for the handling of freight on the lower Mississippi some years ago, and which is still in successful operation.

"The Inland Navigation company, according to Mr. Kent, proposes to build thirty-five boats, similar to the one now being finished at Howard's. Each of these boats will be 250 feet in length with 43 feet beam. Each will be capable of making fifteen miles an hour up stream and twenty-two miles an hour down stream. The speed of the boats will be a great guarantee, Mr. Kent said, of fast service."

LOOT A "WASHING"

Police were notified that a basket of clothes had been found in a rear yard at 814 Front street Tuesday night and that dogs had barked at a man seen bolting from the premises.

Officers brought the basket to headquarters. "White Wing," John Henderson called for the basket early Wednesday, saying it was a washing he was bringing home for his wife, but which he lost off a push cart, not missing it until he reached home. The clothing were turned over to him.

LET THE PUBLIC HAVE THE BEST

Why is one employee or member of a business concern more valuable than another?

Because of capacity and fitness for his line of work.

The officials of our city are employees of the people, and the same standards of ability and fitness should govern the people in their selection of officers for the transactions of the public's business as would govern them in the choice of employees in private business affairs.

The candidacy of Mrs. Ethel Carter, Secretary of the member of the School Board, is urged by her supporters upon the business position of fitness and ability and without any detraction of the merits of any other candidate, she possesses these qualifications in a degree not equalled by any other aspirant to membership in this important board. Her work for years in the school room, home and Mothers' Club has been uniformly successful and she will make a success in the management of the vital public affairs coming under the control of the Board of Education—the welfare of the child, the home and civic reform in our schools.

1,500 People Heard Bryan At Chillicothe

"Clear skies and a crowd of 1500 people greeted William Jennings Bryan at Chillicothe Tuesday afternoon, he delivering a fiery address in the interest of state-wide prohibition.

The great commoner was introduced by Dr. William M. Hindman and the committee in charge of the reception was composed of L. B. Yapple, Clarence Sears, William Korst and William Schilder. Before coming to Chillicothe he addressed a crowd of 5,000 at Athens.

The dedication of the Stanton avenue school will not be held Sunday as planned. George Laidley, William Gills, James Cox and Will Fleming were named as a committee from the Juniors to work in conjunction with the school board and arrange a date and program for the dedication.

As there will be a number of political speeches Sunday it was thought best to postpone the dedication.

Petitions In Error
Petitions in error were filed in common pleas court by Attorneys Blair and Kimble, representing Mary M. Jones and William Jones, plaintiffs in an action against A. E. Skinner and others, decided in favor of the defendants in probate court some time ago. The suits involve the establishment of a township road through the properties of the litigants, and the amount of damages awarded the plaintiffs.

In his Chillicothe speech Mr. Bryan followed rather closely the line he has been keeping to since he began his Ohio tour. Prohibition, the evil of the liquor traffic, the Stability League, amendment and woman's suffrage were all handled.

"John, it's an opportunity."

"But I can't take it, I haven't the money."

MAX HAYES DISCUSSES THE ECONOMIC PHASE

Editor Max Hayes, of the Cleveland Citizen, made a convincing talk against state-wide prohibition Tuesday evening at Fifth and Chillicothe streets before a large crowd.

His meeting was scheduled for 7:30 o'clock at Distel's Hall, Seventh and Chillicothe streets, but he missed his train connections at Ironton, and had to come through in an automobile from that city, arriving here shortly after eight o'clock.

A few minutes after he had started to talk from an automobile at Fifth and Chillicothe streets, a large crowd gathered, which remained until he had finished.

Mr. Hayes discussed the subject of prohibition from an economic standpoint solely. He addressed his remarks chiefly to the working men in the audience, who cheered him frequently as he drove a telling point home.

The speaker referred to the large number of unemployed men in the state at the present time, and said that this number would be increased by 100,000 if prohibition carried next Tuesday.

The prohibitionists can not be sincere about their interest in the laboring men until they will show what they will substitute for the 100,000 men whom they will throw out of their jobs," said Mr. Hayes.

He said that in the campaign last year a challenge was issued to Superintendent Rutledge of the Cuyahoga county Anti-Saloon league, stating that if he could show what disposition would be made of the men who would be thrown out of employment, some of the laboring men would espouse their cause. He added that the challenge was never met.

"The prohibitionists, who profess such love for the laboring men, will do nothing to ameliorate the condition of the men who are thrown out of work," said he.

The liquor interest, Mr. Hayes said, was the fifth largest industry in the United States, with a total capital stock in round numbers of $300,000,000 and gave employment to approximately 1,400,000 men, directly and the allied trades. It was this industry that the prohibitionist was seeking to destroy without making any provision for the upheaval in business and labor circles that would ensue.

"These 1,400,000 men, whom they seek to throw out of employment, would be thrown out into the work as competitors, not only of themselves in the labor market, but of you men who are already in jobs," said Mr. Hayes.

Such a condition, claimed Mr. Hayes, was what the manufacturers and big interests of this country wanted, and that is the reason, he said, that the big interests were behind prohibition. He showed, as a natural law, how two jobs after one man meant better wages, shorter hours and better working conditions, while two men after one job meant lower wages, longer hours and unsatisfactory conditions.

Mr. Hayes devoted considerable of his talk to the big capitalists, headed by John D. Rockefeller, who, he claimed, were seeking to control every industry in the United States. Their opposition to the liquor business, he claimed, was caused by the fact that they could not secure control of it.

He told his hearers that John D. Rockefeller now controlled the United Cigar Company's stores in the cities, and that his company was now beginning to open stores in the smaller cities to freeze out the independent concerns; that a company headed by him was securing control of the retail drug business and that they were looking about now seeking places in which to invest their money.

He prophesied that if prohibition carried the liquor and saloon interests would eventually find their way into the hands of these same capitalists, who would buy up the holdings for a song and then, after the fallacy of prohibition had been shown, would advocate the re-opening of saloons under certain conditions, such conditions being that they would be controlled by Standard Oil.

Mr. Hayes pleaded for the existence of the men in the brewery workers' union, who, he said, had rallied nobly to the assistance of their fellow workmen in other crafts whenever the occasion warranted it.

"I do not hesitate to say who is paying my way. My railroad fare, my meals and my room, and my salary for speaking, all is paid by the men in the brewery workers' union of this state, each of whom was assessed $3 apiece to pay the expenses of a campaign to hold their jobs. Why don't the drys take the people into their confidence and tell who is putting up the money for their extensive campaign?"

Mr. Hayes opened the meeting for questioning after he had finished his speech, but none were forthcoming. The large crowd was loath to let him go, even though it was late, and he started out again to reiterate some of his preceding statements.

The speaker was introduced by William Abrahams, a prominent member of the Local Labor Home Rule League.

ITCHING ECZEMA COVERED ENTIRE BODY, RESINOL CURED

Could Not Sleep. O Remedies had Failed. Resinol Stopped Itching Immediately.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 11, 1914.—"My entire body, even my eyelids, was completely covered with blisters as large as a pea. When one would burst water would come from it and then it would turn into a very painful sore. The burning and itching were something terrible, and I COULD NOT SLEEP nor rest. I think I had one of the worst cases of eczema a human being ever had. "I used eight different kinds of remedies without success. I then tried Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap and it stopped the itching IMMEDIATELY. I gradually noticed a change for the better. Now I am entirely cured, and am without a pimple or blist on any part of my body." (Signed) Edward F. ## THE MOVIES

Marguerite Clark At the Lyric Tomorrow. Robert Warwick Comes Friday In "The Face In the Moonlight"

Wistful, dainty Marguerite Clark will be here again tomorrow in that splendid romantic comedy, "Seven Sisters." This is a return engagement and will give many another opportunity to see it that were unable to get in the Lyric when it was shown before. The admission will be ten cents, afternoon and evening, with the children at five cents.

On Friday of this week the feature will be William A. Brady's magnificent production of Robert Muntell's greatest dramatic success, "The Face in the Moonlight," in five parts. This is one of the highest class dramatic pictures of the year. With the great actor, Robert Warwick as the star, and supported by such stage folk as Montagu Love, Stella Archer and L. Pinner Cliffe the cast is one of unusual excellence. Magnificent costumes and settings, added with good photography make this feature a pleasing offering to the eye. The story is of the time when Napoleon had just come into supreme power, a story that is tensely dramatic from beginning to end. Romance, adventure, tragedy and love are all happily woven into a wonderful story by a master hand. Robert Muntell starred in "The Face in the Moonlight" for over six years and the picture is heralded as a greater achievement than the play itself. The admission will be ten cents and shows will start at 1:30, 3:00, 4:30, 6:30, 8:00 and 9:30.

Bessie Barriscale in "The Reward," is the masterpiece for Saturday and it is a real masterpiece, a story that every woman will remember long after others are forgotten. If you saw Bessie Barriscale in "The Cup of Life" you know how good it was. "The Reward" is so much a better production there is no comparison. The Lyric announces the wonderful Fox production, "The Regeneration" in six parts, 500 scenes, for next Monday, and Mary Pickford in "Esmeralda," her latest success, for Tuesday. Francis Bushman in his supreme triumph, "The Second in Command," comes next Thursday, for one day only. "The Juggernaut" will also be shown again next week on Friday. There's a masterpiece every day at the Lyric.

"Tillie's Punctured Romance," the Funniest of All Comedy Pictures, Columbia Tonight

"Tillie's Punctured Romance," recognized as the funniest of all comedy pictures, plays a return engagement at the Columbia tonight.

This great comedy in six reels (more than a full mile of film) has a good laugh in every foot. You will simply scream at the funny antics of Charley Chaplin, Marie Dressler and Mabel Normand, the three greatest funnicians in motion pictures, tonight.

Don't overlook this opportunity to have a good, hearty laugh at able production could have been selected, for it lends itself perfectly to his exceptional histrionic ability in the character of Charlie Steel, which character fits Mr. Faversham's physique and personality like a glove. "The Right of Way" is a five act feature production, in which, in addition to Mr. Faversham, the exquisite stage star, Jane Grey appears, as do numerous other Broadway celebrities. No increase in prices for this picture. All seats 10 cents.

At The Exhibit Theatre Tonight

"The Little Runaways" is the title of a splendid two reel feature at the Exhibit theatre tonight. This play has to do with the innocence of childhood, told in such a convincing and entertaining manner that interest never once lags. The production is one of the best and most exciting shown in these parts and is deserving of a splendid audience. The story is so vividly told that it sinks deep into the hearts of all parents and teaches a lesson that will be retained a life time.

"Mr. Jarr and Gertrude's Beau" is a Vitaphone comedy in which you will find her beau to be a fireman, saloonkeeper, laundry driver and policeman, and many humorous situations arise on account of them.

"Vanishing Vases" is one of the Kaleem productions that give universal satisfaction at all times. The attendance at the Exhibit grows daily, as Manager Law had an unusually large crowd both Tuesday afternoon and evening. The price of admission is only 5 cents.

Eleventh Episode of "The Broken Coin" At Arcana

Those who have been closely following that great serial, "The Broken Coin," which has been showing at the Arcana theatre for the past ten weeks, will be interested to learn that the eleventh episode of this great picture will be produced tonight. The episode tonight is the most exciting climax of the serial and no doubt the popular Arcana will be packed to the doors. In addition to "The Broken Coin" Manager Putts will show three other big features.

"A Maid and the Man" is a fine comedy showing the best of plans will go astray. Mother tries to arrange a marriage for the oldest daughter, but without success. The poet has said that "Hell hath no fury like a woman scorned," but he is wrong. A jealous woman is more to be feared. The picture "For Professional Reasons" explains all.

"The Toll of Youth" completes the greatest program ever offered in this city at double the price of admission.

At The Majestic

Wonderful Five Drama at Majestic Theatre tonight.

Those lovers of the movies who revel in exciting climaxes will more than have their appetites appeased tonight at the Majestic Theatre. Second street, through the presentation of a two reel drama, entitled, "A Message Through Flames." This play is said by expert critics to be one of the greatest productions ever produced by the silent actors. In addition to the two reel feature, the Majestic management offers an exceptionally clever comedy in "Limbo on the Joe." This is a richly detailed and contains a thousand or more laughs. The big program will close with a very pretty heart interest drama, entitled, "The Choir Boy." The crowds are growing nightly at the Majestic, owing to the excellence of the features and the fact that the admission is only 5 cents.

Temple Theatre

We have tonight another series of the "Romance of Elaine" entitled "The Flash," featuring Pearl White, Creighton Hale and Lionel Barrymore. There remains only two episodes of this great series of educational pictures after tonight. The third and fourth is a landmark production in two parts entitled "The Visitation," a great drama detailing the unusual exploits of a noted scientist. The cast includes Joseph Levering, Marian Swayne and Flavia Arcana.

SAGE AND SULPHUR DARKENS GRAY HAIR

Brush this through faded, lifeless locks and they become dark, glossy, youthful.

Hair that loses its color and lustre, or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that beautiful color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe. Nowadays we get this famous mixture by adding to any drug store for a 60 cent bottle of "Wych's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. Besides, it takes off dandruff, stops itching and falling hair. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wych's Sage and Sulphur is that, besides darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.

Women Favor Sunday Movement

A striking feature of the Sunday Motion Picture Question is that Sunday opening of the picture shows is generally favored by the women of Portsmouth, including many who take a deep interest in church work and church attendance. The reasons given by them in urging that the matter be submitted to a vote are chiefly two:

1. Sunday offers the only opportunity for many women,--if not the majority of them,--to join their husbands or friends in seeking harmless recreation. Through the week, after the husband has put in a hard day's work and the wife is pressed with household duties, there is little incentive to many of them to visit the motion picture shows together in the evening. These women feel that on the long Sunday afternoons during the winter, they with their husbands and all who may conscientiously do so, have the right to enjoy the educational facilities afforded by the motion picture, just as during the summer, recreation is offered on Sunday through the parks, street cars, bathing beaches, etc. They believe that those who are fortunate enough to get their Sunday recreation through automobile rides, golf, boating, etc., should not begrudge others the less expensive enjoyment of the moving picture show.

2. The motion picture show is a powerful agent for good. A prominent student of social conditions remarked not long ago: "Idleness, whether mental or physical, is the root of evil." And Sunday, while it is a day of rest, is also a day of idleness for the young men and women of a town or city. What is, in the beginning, a perfectly innocent desire to "find something to do," often ends in disorderly and sometimes destructive mischief--when it is no worse--all because the young people are at their wits' end to find some healthy form of amusement. The motion picture theatre offers a solution of the problem, with its special Sunday concerts, its lectures, its well-chosen and legally censored pictures on appropriate and uplifting subjects; and it can do more than any agency except the church itself toward helping a city to answer the question, "What shall our young people do on Sundays?"

JUST LIKE US.

Champions of the Teutonic powers get much cheer out of the relative positions of the London and Berlin papers. They think all is going wrong in England because a part of the press is furious in its criticisms of the government, while the whole German press has nothing but praise for the administration of the Kaiser. They forget, or do not know the difference of the plans upon which journalism in the two countries is conducted. In England it is not alone the right, but the business of papers to find fault and express it, when not in party harmony with the cabinet, which is the actual government. They are just like the papers here, which praise only the representatives of their own party and find fault only with the opposition. In Germany this is not the case, especially under present conditions. Censuring the government is in the least sedition and mostly construed as treason. So that whenever a paper "gets gay" and somewhat freely speaks its mind to the displeasure of the powers, it is promptly suppressed, its editors fined and generally lucky in getting off without jail sentence.

In which country the rule is most desirable we can hardly say, though it does seem the German methods, here as elsewhere, are most expedient and likewise most efficient, when war is on. It is a pretty safe guess anyway that the slowness of British enlistment complained of is the result of merely partisan fault finding with the conduct of affairs.

A BILLION BUSHELS.

The unprecedented yield of more than a billion of bushels of wheat in the United States, this year, is still a matter of glad-some comment and boast. Of course, as it means so much to the prosperity of the country, especially when there is such a demand as to command inordinately high prices there is much cause for gratulation, but the boasting of it is hardly justified, for abnormalism of the yield, but exaggerates our inefficiency as agriculturists. With the acreage devoted to it the crop ought to have been two billion bushels instead of only one. For the average field did not produce more than twenty bushels, while it ought to have been forty and could have been made even higher than that with right cultivation. The truth is our farming is done altogether too much on luck, so to speak. The seed is sown and nature is expected to do the rest, generally disappointing. It is not so in Europe, in Germany above all places. There they depend on work and method a yield of fifty bushels to the acre is the rule and not the exception.

And even though our civilization be lax our waste is worse. Travel over any part of the country and put observation and thought into your journey and you will be astounded, yes, almost grieved to see how much land is lying idle and unproductive. Verily, even in our most thickly populated states there is soil never tilled by the plow that if made productive would yield sufficient to support twice their present population.

The state license commission and the federal census bureau should get together. The first gives the Peerless 20,000 population and the last 30,000. It would not be fair, though, to split the difference. Portsmouth had, according to the count of 1910 nearly 21,000. Not only has there been increase in the limits of that year, but thousands have been added by extending the corporation line, of which latter the federal bureau does not take account in its estimates.

The glad hand is given to Dunaba on his return home, which is simply reversing the proverb, a man is not without honor, save in his own country.

What the landmen can't understand is, why don't they set the submarines after each other, instead of helpless merchant ships?

It is the same story with the Peerless, this year, overcrowded schools. And at that two of the largest schools have been opened for the first time.

It is painful how off the fate of the nation hangs trembling in the balance. Just listen at the old gang jaw-smiths talking about the national election of next year depending on this little municipal affair.

No, Harry Bannon hasn't cut loose yet in this campaign, but there are four days until election and Harry generally bobs up at the heel of the thing.

The second year of the war will cost at least twice as much as the first. Evidently somebody is going to go broke if the thing keeps up.

SENDING FORTH A DOVE

ESSENTIALS AND HELP.

New ideas and methods, that are popularly ridiculed as fads, are being introduced into the public schools, in the fond belief that they will make more proficient the education attained therein.

Our own view is that public education, in the sense of its imparting knowledge should be based primarily on spelling, reading, writing, arithmetic, grammar, composition and civil government, that is pupils should be thoroughly grounded in these in beginning and continuance. Whatever other studies may be added are more in the nature of cultivation, but nothing that the pupil is taught, or rather learns is either wasted or useless. There is bound to be profit in any worthy knowledge a student acquires. It may not be of practical purpose, but it broadens and deepens his mind and the fact that he has mastered it quickens his understanding and enables him to take quicker hold of the bigger and severe lessons he has got to learn, if he would as much as modestly succeed, in the great school of existence.

And after all the finest thing in education is not the material success it brings us. There is pleasure infinite in mere knowledge. There is nothing so rare an enjoyment as a varied learning, a wide information. It lends interest to most common things, it finds enchantment where it is hidden to the eyes of ignorance and it brings absorbing communications that are too sweet and sacred to be roughened into words. It is the mighty engine that sends imagination to pulse and throb the world and give it glimpse of the sublime.

Addition Under Roof

The new addition to the Disel Furniture company's building at Seventh and Chillicothe streets is now under roof. Work on the interior will be rushed with all possible haste.

Wheel Stolen

James Skaggs of Union street, had his wheel stolen from in front of the Masonic Temple Tuesday morning.

Made Trip To Dayton.

Ralph Tyson of the architectural firm of Ritter and Bates, has returned from a business trip to Dayton. He made the trip in an automobile.

Traction Work Progresses.

Raymond York is in front on business for the Ohio Valley Traction Company. Work on the firm's extension is progressing very satisfactorily, about four miles of track having already been laid in vicinity of Franklin Furnace.

NEW-YORK-DAY-BY-DAY

New York, Oct. 27.—Main Street, Good Ground, L. I. is ninety miles from the Fifth Avenue retail millinery zone and it would hardly be supposed that a lady in possession of her senses and two hundred dollars would journey to Good Ground to buy a hat. But many do.

Good Ground, is the hunting ground of Charles F. Murphy, sometimes mentioned in connection with Tammany Hall. The famous milliner is Walter H. King, and his shop is in the family garage. His hats bear the stamp: "Not Imported." He began making hats for his mother when she did not have the cash to buy them. He developed an artistic style that make neighbors gasp.

When he got out of college he decided that he would become a milliner. If his hats were beautiful, ladies would come to him. He does not think that because a man is born in France he can make a better hat than if he had been born in America. He thinks art is the result of thought expressed simply and sincerely.

So the Good Ground man milliner evolves his creation in a garage and beautiful women come by the scores to buy them.

The genial Enrico Caruso is back at Forty-Second and Broadway. Caruso's coming means much to the taxi-starters, bell boys, hat boys, phone girls, waiters and clerks of the Knickerbocker where he holds forth in a royal suite. He brings each a present—sometimes it is gold and other times it is some fitting gift he has purchased abroad.

When he arrived the other day the excitement around the hotel was dynamic. He was held up down the bay by a fog for five hours and the wait that arose was pathetic in the extreme. One of the attractions of the place got so distressing that James B. Regan, the hotel proprietor, sent a special tag down the bay to get meal.

The singer off the liner, but he was busy in a card game and decided to wait until the fog lifted.

Leslie Thresher, the artist, lives in a studio apartment in Grasmere Park. Below him lives a convivial husband who now and then comes home in time for the milkman's matinee. The other morning he dodged enough lamp posts to arrive home just before breakfast.

His wife, who has quite a sharp tongue, was waiting for him. She stood in the doorway and glared at him fiercely as he stepped off the elevator.

"Ish loush on fire!" he asked sheepishly.

"No," she snapped.

"Well, I'd only know that, I wouldn't been'n slush a hurry to get home."

The return of Juba Arthur to the stage will be quite an event in New York where she has long been a popular favorite. Her opening play will be "The Eternal Magdalena." Miss Arthur has been living quietly with her husband near Boston.

When she came over to see her managers she was told that a restored dodo had been put on exhibition that day at the Museum of Natural History.

"Well, well," she said. "Now for a restored umbrella and the collection of rarities will be complete."

"Little Hungary" the famed restaurant on the East Side, has decided to move to Broadway. It wants to get in the centre of action. Business has fallen off in the past few years since the transportation facilities to Little Hungary were so poor. With the Broadway atmosphere it expects to regain its old popularity. One of the attractions of the place was that a diner can have all the wine he can drink free with his meal.

Inspired Drivel

Scatter rays of sunshine
 All along your way.
 (Gosh, I know of nothing
 Easier'n this to say!)

Spread the smiling sunshine
 All along your path.
 (When affairs go rotten,
 Don't this rouse your wrath!)

Be a human sunbeam,
 Every blessed minute.
 (This advice is bulky,
 Were there gumption in it.)

Scatter blessed sunshine—
 You will never rue it.
 (This is runkest piffle—Anyone could do it.)

Getting down to cases
 (This is where we strike it),
 No one scatters sunshine
 Unless he's feeling like it.
 —Strickland Gillilan.

Reads The Papers

potter;
 When you cried they were laugh-

So Why Bother?

Farmer Brown, while his crew of threshers were "wading up" one morning, noticed among them a Swede who was not engaged in the use of water, soap and towel.
 "Well, Harris," said the farmer,
 "aren't you going to wash
 this morning?"
 "Naw," returned the Swede;
 "it don't make me dirty to sleep."—Everybody's.

A Woman's Threat

"Well, if that ain't the limit," mused the postman as he came down the steps of a private residence.

"What's the trouble?" queried the mere citizen who had overheard the postman's noisy thought.

"Why," explained the man in gray, "the woman in that house says if I don't come earlier she'll get her letters from some other carrier."—Indianapolis News.

POLLY AND HER PALS

BLINDING HEADACHES

are very frequently the result of imperfect vision; that kind of a headache can be permanently relieved only by properly fitted glasses.

If it tires your eyes or gives you a headache to read, sew or otherwise employ your eyes at close work you probably need glasses.

We can fit you at reasonable prices with glasses that will positively correct any defects of vision that may be found, and you'll find them so becoming that any fears that you might not "look well with glasses" will be instantly allayed.

We make no charge of examination and recommend glasses only when necessary.

Take Your Choice

From Morning Star editorial on Morrow flat fire:

"It only took Frick's wonderful fire department 20 minutes to get water on the fire yesterday. The Irving Drew people had three lines of hose operating before the department arrived on the scene. Even then the apparatus of the fire department was found to be out of order and there were all kinds of mistakes and fumbles before effective work was done.

Does the Mayor wish to be known by the fire company he keeps?"

CHANGE IS MADE AT HUTCHISON MUSIC CO.

Henderson Hutchison, who for the past four years has been at the head of the Hutchison Music company, and whose place of business is located on Gallia street, has resigned, his resignation to be effective next Saturday.

Mr. Hutchison announced today that he would soon be engaged in the piano and music business for himself, having opened negotiations for a room on Gallia street. Mr. Hutchison is recognized as one of the best posted music dealers in the city and his friends will be pleased to learn that he is to remain in the city.

Samuel Horebow, of the Hutchison Music company, stated today that this firm's growing business would go right ahead, and that an experienced man would be placed in charge of the affairs of the Hutchison Music company.

PLUMBERS UNION HAS BEEN RE-INSTATED

With every journeyman plumber in the city enrolled in its membership, Plumbers Union No. 577 was reinstated Tuesday night by William Lynn, general organizer of the United Association of Plumbers and Steam Fitters, who arrived in the city last night.

The union will meet on Tuesday nights the same as before its charter was revoked several weeks ago by Mr. Lynn. Their trouble has been adjusted satisfactorily from all standpoints and the Plumbers' Union starts out with a 100 per cent membership.

Arrest Of Youths Reveals Plot To Wreck N. & W. Train

In the arrest of five county youths near Omega Tuesday, N. & W. officials claim to have laid bare a plot to wreck Passenger Train No. 22 near Omega on the morning of October 19th last. Warren Clements, Thomas C. Clements, Samuel Hatfield, James Hatfield and Harry Hatfield, ranging in age from 15 to 19 years, are the youths under arrest at the county jail in Waverly.

Their arrest was made upon an affidavit filed in Squire Philip Gableman's court in Waverly by N. & W. Detective Robert Reno of this city, who claims to have unearthed evidence to prove that they drove railroad spikes between the rail links where the rails come together, the object being to wreck the train. The lads chose a very dangerous place to carry out their plans, Reno claims, as the track at that point is at the top of a high embankment, and the wrecking of the train would have been sure to have been attended with fatalities. Discovery of the spikes by section men returning home from work prevented a serious wreck. The five youths have been under the surveillance of Detective Reno for about two weeks.

The warrants were placed in the hands of Sheriff Butler and Marshal Yahraes Tuesday morning, and they went to the homes of the youths on the east side of the Scioto river, near Omega. Tuesday afternoon, and placed them under arrest.

They were arraigned before Squire Gableman Wednesday morning, and all entered pleas of not guilty. Their hearing was set for November 4th.

Train No. 22 leaves Columbus at 4:20 a. m. and arrives in Portsmouth at 7:30.

Class Made About $50

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Barber, of 309 Second street, have been called to Lewis county, Kentucky, to word that the latter's mother, Mrs. Margaret Starks, aged 73 years, was at the point of death. Mrs. Starks recently suffered a paralytic stroke.

George W. Small of the H. Leet Lumber company, is ill with heart trouble at his home, 630 Sixth street.

Miss Margaret Bayerl, of Seventh street, who has been ill for the past few days, is now reported slowly improving.

Mrs. John A. Grimes of 1024 Second street, has developed diphtheria. The home was quarantined Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Dow Ramsey underwent a surgical operation at her home on Center street Tuesday and rallied nicely.

Mrs. Gus Meade, of Sixth and Boundary streets, who was operated upon at Hopstead hospital last Thursday is improving nicely, and will be removed back home in a few days.

The baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Heisel, of Grant street is recovering from an attack of scarlet fever.

George Williams is ill at the Baker House, in Wheelersburg, with typhoid fever.

SOCIETY

Mrs. W. R. Beatty was hostess at this afternoon's meeting of the T. H. B. club at her home on Oakland avenue. Mrs. Millard Poffenberger was the only guest. Art needlework was followed by dainty refreshments. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Ernest Kild, on Robinson avenue.

Squire Bryan officiated at the marriage Wednesday morning of James Pruitt, 21, an N. & W. car repairer, and Miss Wavie Kopp, 20, both of this city.

William H. Rhodes, cashier of the Portsmouth Gas Company, and family moved from No. 1529 Eleventh street to John Russell's property at No. 807 Findlay street.

Two hundred people were served at the splendid supper given by Reger Selby's class of Bigelow Sunday school last evening at the church.

Miss Maude Berry, of Maysville, is coming Saturday to visit at the home of Miss Katherine Dawson, on Jackson avenue.

Several teachers will go to Athens Friday to attend a teachers' conference.

FEED CHILDREN

On Properly Selected Food. It Pays Big Dividends

If parents will give just a little intelligent thought to the feeding of their children the difference in the health of the little folks will pay many times over, for the small trouble.

A mother writes: "Our children are all so much better and stronger than they ever were before we made a change in the character of the food. We have quit using potatoes three times a day with coffee and so much meat."

"Now we give the little folks some fruit, either fresh, stewed, or canned, some Grape-Nuts with cream, occasionally some soft boiled eggs, and some Postum for breakfast and supper. Then for dinner they have some meat and vegetables."

"It would be hard to fully describe the change in the children, they have grown so sturdy and strong, and we attribute this change to the food elements that, I understand, exist in Grape-Nuts and Postum."

"A short time ago my baby was teething and had a great deal of stomach and bowel trouble. Nothing seemed to agree with him until I tried Grape-Nuts softened and mixed with rich milk and he improved rapidly and got sturdy and well."

"There's a Reason."

vention at which Miss Gertrude Davidson will give a talk on "Story Telling." Miss Louise Small, Miss Stella McCall, Miss Marguerite Dawson, Miss May Birch, Miss Lorraine Schlichter, Miss Esther Salser and Miss Mildred Thomas.

The Day Nursery Association will meet Friday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. Fred Baker, 1415 Seventeenth street.

The H. B. O. held an enjoyable meeting last evening at the home of Miss Freda Brunner. Art needlework and music were the pleasures of the evening. Those present were Misses Rose Grunnet, Louise Emmett, Katherine Hufner, Edna Schaefer, Elsie Wagner, Stella Wagner, Gertrude Frantz, Norma Peury, Marie Brunner. The next meeting will be held in two weeks at the home of Miss Louise Emmett, on Twelfth street.

The L. A. to O. R. C. will give a social Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Feigitt, on McConnell avenue, where a comfort will be knotted, to be sold at the supper to be given soon. All members are urged to attend.

Mrs. Anna Wittenburg, of No. 1652 Seventh street, returned home Wednesday from a few days' visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Worley, of Friendship.

Mr. John Grummel and bride, nee Helen Burke, who were married at Georgetown, Ky., Tuesday morning, are expected to arrive here tonight.

At a seven course luncheon given by her aunt, Miss Louise Wolford, of Waverly, Wednesday noon, the engagement of Miss Pauline Greenbaum, popular society girl of that place, daughter of Charles L. Greenbaum, leading merchant of Waverly, to Thomas McLenn, of the McLean Construction company, was announced.

Miss Greenbaum is well known in this city, having often visited here. She is a graduate of the Waverly high school, and one of the most popular girls of the younger social set in Waverly. She is a relative of George A. Mooney of this city.

The dinner was attended by many of the relatives and intimate friends of Miss Greenbaum, including her aunt, Mrs. William Greenbaum, and Mrs. B. F. Bahaser, both of Chillicothe.

FRIDAY NIGHT

Big general meeting at Republican headquarters on Gallia street over the Royal B. & L. Company. Speakers to be announced tomorrow.

KAPS PLATFORM

In the recent primary election, H. H. Kaps, the Republican candidate for mayor, outlined his principles in a "Statement to the People." These principles represent not the expediency of a candidate, but the settled views of a life time. They are as follows:

LAW ENFORCEMENT

Should I be elected mayor, it will be both my sworn duty and my purpose to enforce the laws. I place this first, for I deem it most important.

ECONOMY

Our city has a large debt and the tax rate has gone up to $1.41 instead of remaining at the dollar limit that we were led to believe would be in existence. There should be careful economy in expenditures in order that the tax rate may be reduced instead of being raised still further.

EFFICIENCY

Public work should be honestly and efficiently done, with a stoppage of waste and lost motion. Fortunately my work of a quarter of a century has given me a useful and practical experience that I hope will make me of especial service in this.

PROGRESSIVENESS

I shall at all times endeavor to bring about those public improvements and to advocate those policies necessary to the welfare and advancement of our city. I do not believe in stopping the hands of the municipal clock.

GOOD SERVICE

I shall select officials with a view to the good of the people - men qualified for their places, who are not only capable, upright and honest, but who also at all times and under all circumstances, be kind and obliging in their dealings with the people. Free from pledges of any kind, I can and will make fitness my first consideration.

MUNICIPAL TEAMWORK

My experience in working with men has taught me the wisdom of harmony of action. No one man can do it all. In all legal matters I shall seek and be guided by the advice of the City Solicitor, the law officer of the city, and I shall recognize that the City Council is the legislative branch of our city and work in harmony with it. All departments shall be conducted free from friction and with a view to the public good only.

Upon these principles, and upon the record of a life which I have tried to make industrious, honorable and useful, I cordially solicit the support of all electors and will be grateful for it.

Respectfully,

H. H. KAPS.

D. W. GUSTIN, Secretary

F. W. (PETE) SMITH, Chairman

THE ROYAL ORDER MEETS

They are at it again!

The Royal Order of Explainers has met in biennial session.

After 30 hours of stormy session and mental stress they have evolved some wonderful "answers" to belittle the many triumphs of the Frick administration.

Ye gods! They have had the former city engineer in tow—and George Sheppard, the lawyer-ex-councilman, who roasted the people when they wanted a cleaner hospital. George was qualifying as a hospital expert about that time.

But to return to the "Answers"—

They run true to old time form when they commenced on the great paving question.

It became such a fixed habit with the old Engineers to give away dirt to favorite gangsters, that the Royal Order now wants to give away Gallia Pike entirely to somebody.

The Royal Order says the Republicans could have paved Gallia Pike for $60,000.00, whereas the cost figure is around $75,000.00. Let's see, the gang also planned Kinney Lane (but didn't complete it) hardly half as long and its total cost of paving, widening, etc. was about $35,000.00. At that rate Gallia Pike should cost $100,000.00—but it won't. Yes, and there was a mighty wall built along the North side of Kinney Lane too.

And the Royal Order says that damages are going to be paid out on Gallia Pike in the sum of $10,000.00; and our addition is to add a $1,000.00 assessment entirely because of the curb lines.

The Royal Order must be thinking that gang methods will prevail in settling for Gallia Pike—same as obtained in allowing extras on the units of the New Water Works, completed under their administration.

But the Frick administration don't settle that way. It settles upon a basis of work performed and actual damage sustained.

Gallia Pike is a beautiful paving job, everyone will tell you. It costs a little more to anchor car tracks on good foundation, but best of all the Street Railway pays the cost.

People on both Seventeenth Streets are wishing they had gotten that kind of Engineering along their car tracks. Instead of the latched up jobs they did get, even if they would have had to stand part of the cost. And they were both paved within the last five years too—but not by the Democrats.

When Gallia Pike is finally accepted and assessed, all interests will stand their proper share. The small home owner will get a reasonable assessment, and will have secured a wonderful improvement.

While on the street paving subject just remember the Democrats paved their 1913 streets and courageously assessed them. The old gang administration only paved half as many and strung them out over two years. They did not have the nerve to assess them before the election. After the fatal election they didn't have the heart to, although the department had twice as many engineers and assistants.

In 1914 Engineer Hudson retired from office with all his work cleaned up. In 1914 Engineer Wilhelm, a Democrat, succeeded the gang Engineer and his first work was to assess the 17 streets paved in 1912-13. He did this and has since planned 23 streets, and will have them properly assessed for his successor—if in a thoughtless hour the voters decide to return the old gang to power.

Third Ward property owners still wonder why dirt from Seventeenth Street, west of Offshore, was hauled away so far when it was needed for back filling on the paving of this street up the hill toward Chillicothe street. Then they were made to feel better when the Democrats recently paved Fifteenth Street, and utilized the surplus dirt along the Seventeenth Street hill and other places wherein the whole public benefited.

It is an open scandal along the streets east of the Cemetery, how street dirt was hauled into distant private lots belonging to parties now high in the Council of the gang campaign. It made desirable building lots for them, but what about the other hilltop streets and alleys that needed the grading.

Furthermore, and finally as regards Gallia Pike—if you don't like that croak in the street, bear in mind who is responsible. Mayor Frick and Engineer Wilhelm are on record for sensible engineering, but were overruled by the Republican Council.

The Royal Order points with pride to municipal economy now being practiced in New Boston. Poor New Boston is due for an awakening on financial matters ere long. The old gang crowd, separated from the public affairs in Portsmouth, has been operating out there these two years. They have been keeping in practice. They want to move back bodily to Portsmouth. Will the Voters submit? Hardly.

FIRST WARD VOTERS, ATTENTION!

Here are the things in which you will be vitally interested in the forthcoming city administration:

1. Replacement of the Flood Waal at the "Point."
2. Complete high pressure water main from Eleventh and Chillicothe streets to Fourth and Jefferson streets.
3. Keeping up two Flood Pumping Stations and the West End Flood Embankment.
4. Widen the approaches at the new County Bridge.
5. Clean streets and alleys, keeping street paving, sewers and sidewalks in good repair.

WHAT DOES THE DEMOCRATIC TICKET OFFER THE FIRST WARD TO INSURE CAREFUL CONSIDERATION OF THESE PROPOSITIONS?

Firstly--MR. FRANK SCHMANK for Ward Councilman,

Admittedly as well qualified a man in the matter of construction work as can be found in the city. Has served the ward faithfully and well for 6 years. Always in attendance at Council meetings and weighing in with a boost for his end of town. Vote for him.

Secondly--MAYOR ADAM FRICK, a resident of your Ward,

He has transacted business there for over 20 years. You know what his business and private life has been. Fair and considerate of every man who will be fair with the law and with his neighbor. Mayor Frick combines the qualifications of both a councilman and an executive. Vote for him.

Thirdly--ATTORNEY PHILLIP JACOBS, for City Solicitor,

Our candidate for City Solicitor lives in your ward near the intersection of Third and Washington streets. Every one knew Phil Jacobs as a studious, honorable, upright boy and he has rounded into a four square man, and a good lawyer. He will make a worthy successor to Horace Small and Stanley McCall. Vote for him.

Fourthly--WILLIS CALHOUN, Sr., for Assessor,

He is your neighbor. He has served two terms with good satisfaction. Vote for him.

Fifthly--MINER E. CARTWRIGHT, for Constable,

He comes from the large class of the city's wage-earners, never losing a day at the Veneer Plant. He is of middle age and deserving of the change of occupation this election would afford him. Vote for him.

Sixthly--The Frick Administration

has gone into the First Ward for its splendid Chief Engineer at the Water Works, JOHN HERRMANN, also for its efficient Assistant Service Director, LOUIS THOMAN, and for some of its best policemen, firemen and other public employees.

Compare The Candidates--Man for Man, With Those The Opposition Is Supporting.

In no portion of the city has there been more willfully false misrepresentation of Mayor Frick and his administration, than in the Democratic First Ward. The opposition will not attack the private life of Mayor Frick, but will pervert his official acts to make an appeal to blind prejudices.

First Ward Voters--Resent this insult to your intelligence with an old time majority for the Democratic ticket.

P. H. S. To Stage Big Debate With Huntington; School Notes

A big debate has been arranged between Portsmouth High school and Huntington High school students. Prof. Clark Huntington, of the latter school, made arrangements for the double debate with State Contest, competing with nine states.

Prof. J. C. Graham, of the Huntington High school, when the two football teams met here two weeks ago.

The debate will be staged some time in February. There will be eight debaters, four remaining here to meet four from H. H. S. and four going to Huntington, the affirmative side being taken care of in one place and the negative in the other.

There will be debates between members of the different classes, the eight debaters being chosen in this manner. Local debaters will be chosen before the Christmas holidays so they will have time to prepare themselves for the big debate.

Prof. L. W. Bridge and Alfred W. Stewart, of the faculty, will have the boys in their charge. Prof. Bridge is a Latin platform teacher and orator of note. Prof. Bridge has won three medals in oratorical contests. He won a medal in 1911 in the State Person Contest, while at Hiram College. He won the Inter-Collegiate State Oratorical Contest when he attended Butler College at Indianapolis. He won an Inter-school life. Loren Cunningham, editor-in-chief, has worked hard to make the first issue the best newspaper ever issued by P. H. S. students and his editorials will be greatly appreciated.

The paper will contain eight pages, the same size as last year. One new feature is the Miss Providence Brilliant column, devoted to persons.

The literary column will be of a better standard. The alumni, society and athletic columns will be brimful of news.

Prof. L. W. Bridge, of the Portsmouth high school faculty, has taken charge of the singing at the high school and is trying to organize a Glee Club among high school students.

Finney And Pilgrim Singers Make A Tour Of The City

Prof. J. H. Finney, accompanied by the famous Pilgrim Singers, delivered three rattling good speeches for the days in the city Tuesday night.

The first meeting took place at 6:30 at Gallia and Lawson streets, the second on the Lower Market Square and the most enthusiastic one was held in Government Square at 8 o'clock. The speaker and singers were greeted by splendid audiences at all points and the meetings were full of interest and enthusiasm.

Prof. Finney, who spoke under the auspices of the Scioto County Dry Education, scored a number of telling points on why Ohio should embrace prohibition. He dwelt at some length on the state of affairs in the state, the demand for sober men is greater today than ever and that the time is drawing near when only a man of sober habits will be employed by a big railroad or a manufacturing firm. Prof. Finney stated that people were getting smarter all the time and smartness eventually meant the enforcement of the open saloon.

The Pilgrim Singers, composed of E. C. Hood, Samuel Crawford, G. H. Metzger and Talmage Edwards, made a big hit at all three meetings. They were forced to take many encores. They sang one song in particular "Barley Corn John" and the singers used a bottle filled with tea that looked the part to increase the effectiveness of their song.

Prof. Finney and the Pilgrim Singers will conduct a meeting in Harrisonville tonight at 7 o'clock. They will be at McDermott Thursday night and Lucasville Friday night.

DR. G. A. SULZER

In Portsmouth Thursdays and Fridays. Office 346 East Second Street. Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat.

Inspection Trip

R. C. Wescott, of Chillicothe, the U. & O. S. W. division trainmaster, spent Tuesday here on an inspection visit.

Inspect Roads

State Engineer H. D. Brunning, of Columbus, and Engineer Wadsworth, of Portsmouth, were here Tuesday looking after the state roads in this county, which are under construction.

They visited the tunnel, where state construction is going on, and also at Proctorville--Ironbound.

At Steel Plant

Jacob Miller has accepted employment in the plant of the Whitaker-Glessner Company.

SCROFULA AND ALL HUMORS GIVE WAY

There are many things learned from experience and observation that the older generation should impress upon the younger. Among them is the fact that scrofula and other humors are most successfully treated with Hood's Sarsaparilla. This great medicine is a peculiar combination of remarkably effective blood-purifying and health-giving roots, herbs and salts, and has been tested for forty years. Get it today.

Another whirlwind campaign of the eastern part of the county will be made by the wets Thursday with C. S. Mayhew, editor of the Liberal Advocate, of Columbus, as the principal speaker. The speaking schedule is as follows: 9 a. m., Firebrick; 9:45, Effort; 10:30, Bloom; 11:15, South Webster; 4:30, Scioto Furnace; 7:00, Sciotoville.

Home From South

Willbur Runyan, who has been in the south on a business trip for the Whitaker-Glessner company, arrived home Wednesday. He was accompanied home from Cincinnati by Mrs. Runyan, who visited friends there.

At Columbus

Arthur Gerlach left Tuesday for Columbus on a business trip in the interest of the Catholic Columbian.

In Cincinnati

Guy Thompson left Wednesday morning for Cincinnati, where he will look after business for the Portsmouth Engine company.

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, O. Office Phone 68.

what year the flood wall was started and when finished? A READER.

It was started in 1908 and finished in 1909.

Dear Dolly.—I have a roommate who snores something fierce. He is a good roommate and I just won't move and I would like to know what causes one to snore so loud, also a remedy for it. I just got to do something as when we are both in together I get no sleep unless I go some place else. Also tell me what will kill the smell of gas, as he raises all the windows these cold nights and says he smells gas when really the gas is turned off. Do you think it healthy to sleep with a big load of covers over one's self and then raise all the windows up? Hoping you will help me out in my predicament.

J. A. W. Sleeping with the mouth open causes one to snore. You might suggest to your roommate that he put some adhesive plaster over his mouth or else wear a rubber band or some other kind of a bandage tied under his chin. Have a plumber examine your gas fixtures to see if the gas is escaping. Gas or no gas you ought to sleep with your windows open. Lower them about six inches from the top if they will "lower" and also raise them as far as possible from the bottom. It isn't necessary to sleep under a "load" of covers. Just have enough to keep you comfortably warm.

Dear Dolly.—Please publish a list of legal holidays in United States. A READER.

There are upwards of 50 legal holidays observed by the different states in the Union. However, the only holidays that are observed by all states on the same day are Washington's Birthday, Fourth of July, Labor Day, Thanksgiving and Christmas. Besides the above named Decoration Day and Columbus Day are legal holidays in Ohio, as is every Saturday throughout the year from 12 o'clock (noon). General election day is considered a holiday from 5:30 a. m. till 9 a. m., only.

Dear Miss Wise.—Please describe a Doodle-bug, and where they are mostly found. "SIX BUGS."

It is a small gray bug generally found in "rotten" stumps, logs and old trees. They also burrow in dry sand after the manner of little red ants. According to old folk lore, if you call a doodle-bug it will come up to see you. I can't say this is true, because I have never come up for me. However, they come out in swarms upon going down further when you call: Doodle-bug, Doodle-bug, Doodle Doodle Doodle-bug. Repeat about 1000 times to get results.

Dear Miss Wise.—I notice in your issue of October 15th, where you advise a remedy to "Lure" for falling hair. I am wondering whether this same remedy will be applicable where the condition is accompanied by excessive oiliness. In fact the extreme oiliness seems to be a factor in the condition which causes the hair to fall out as my hair never came out until this condition of oiliness appeared. Also is the remedy to be applied every night. ELOISE.

The remedy you refer to would be all right in your case. Apply every other day for awhile then every week or so thereafter.

Dear Dolly.—Please publish this in your column in reply to Mrs. Rodger Ray's letter of Saturday evening.

My Dear Mrs. Rodger Ray, Let me be your Casey Jones; I have the eye and lively gauge, But may be shy on bones.

But I sure have never had beauty too, In a very large degree, And only hope I've got the dope That will win yourself for me.

My Engines the pride of the P. D. Q., The fastest on the line; It never humps but always humps And this is where I shine.

I'm an unnumbered Bachelor, Of a happy contented mind; And why shouldn't I love as a lover should love When I love all womankind.

I do not smoke or chew or swear, Or inhale in the nasty shops; I never get tight or stay out at night, But I'll admit, I do love my hops.

So here's hoping I can fill the bill, Mrs. Ray; Accept me if you can; But if I should come up shy on bones You'd better try the Ossified Man. (Assumed)

BILLY SUNDAY DOWNED IN CONTEST OF BRAWN

Omsa, Neb., Oct. 27.—"Billy" Sunday was thrown flat on his back here. The Rev. Billy liked it and came back repeatedly for more. No, he was not downed by liquor, nor the evil influences of Omsa, where he has been holding revival meetings. Nor did any of his enemies get the best of him.

It was Farmer Burns, ex-heavyweight champion wrestler of the world, who threw Billy Sunday in a friendly wrestling bout in Sunday's room at the Loyal Hotel.

Farmer Burns went to the room of the evangelist just to meet him. Billy was greatly interested in the leathery muscles of the giant wrestler, veteran of many hard-fought battles.

"So you are Farmer Burns," exclaimed the evangelist, over and over again, as he flopped his Bible down on the dresser and turned to the caller. "Strip off your shirt. I want to see your muscles."

Burns stripped.

"Billy" Sunday felt the great muscles. "Say, man," he said, "they're just like hands of steel. I can't un-

ALUMNI STARS WILL PLAY P. H. S. REGULARS

Portsmouth high school's football season will close on the Saturday after Thanksgiving Day with a game between the regular eleven and an eleven picked from Alumni stars who will be in the city on that day. The Alumni game is always looked forward to with eager anticipation by lovers of the sport, since it brings into action again the stars of years ago whose deeds on the gridiron will not soon be forgotten by the present generation of high school pupils.

James Williams, captain of the high school eleven a few years since, will captain the alumni eleven this year. In his lineup will be a number of old favorites, including H. A. Martin, Maurice Briggs, Paul Harsh, Harry Brande, Louis Brown, Orville Roberts, Robert Padon, Thomas Haley, Lawrence Daniels, James Lynn, Theodore Webb, Russell Egbert and others.

WHAT CAN YOU DO FOR CATARRH?

What? Ask yourself the question. How often has the doctor failed, as also ointments, salves, vapours? What you should do is to try S. S. S.

This easy, common-sense method—that costs so little—that is so quickly and vigorously effective—is often the last resort of many Catarrh sufferers. Why, it is hard to say. One of the trained specialists of the Swift Specific Company in Atlanta—a physician of standing and national reputation because of his knowledge of blood diseases, made the assertion that if the majority of chronic Catarrh victims would buy and faithfully take S. S. S., they could effectually get rid of Catarrh.

S. S. S. goes straight to the seat of trouble, the blood. It spreads its influence over every organ in the body, comes through all the veins and arteries, enables all mucous surfaces to exchange acids and irritating substances for red blood corpuscles that effectually cleanse the system and thus put an end to all Catarrh pollution. S. S. S. cleans out the stomach of mucous accumulations, enables only pure, blood-making materials to enter the intestines, combines with these food elements to enter the circulation, and in less than an hour is at work throughout the body in process of purification.

S. S. S. is made from roots and herbs that are food and tonic for the blood. It stimulates—gives the blood power to throw off poisons. You will soon realize its wonderful influence by the absence of headache, a decided location of the all passages, a decidedly improved mental condition, and a sense of health that proves how completely Catarrh often infects the entire system.

You will find S. S. S. on sale at all drug stores. It is a remarkable remedy for any and all blood affections, such as Eczema, Itch, Lumps, Tetter, Pimples, Boils, and all other diseased conditions of the blood. For special advice on any blood disease write to: Swift Specific Company, Medical Department, Room 11, Atlanta, Ga. Avoid imitations.

Quakers Beaten

McDermott, Ohio, Oct. 27.—The McDermott Champions made good their boast that they are the best amateur team in Scioto county by winning the deciding game of a three game series from the fast Portsmouth Quakers by the score of 20 to 9.

It is understood that Pitcher Myers of McDermott will receive a tryout with the Columbus American Association team next season. Myers is without a doubt the best amateur pitcher in Scioto county and should make good in fast company. The score:

GIRLS TO PLAY

The Ironton High school girls are making efforts to organize a basketball five to represent I. H. S. The girls have held several meetings and expect to start practice soon. The Portsmouth high school girls will organize teams in a few weeks and it is likely that games will be booked with the Ironton girl quintet.

The Ironton High school football eleven will go to St. Albans, near Charleston, next Saturday to play the St. Albans High school warriors. Several weaknesses were uncovered in the game with Gallipolis last Saturday and Coach Nixon is working the boys hard this week to remedy the defects. There is talk of Ironton booking a game with Athens High school for Thanksgiving Day.

Teachers Welcome

For this week only, the Extension Class formed last week by Miss Bartlett of Miami University, will hold its weekly meeting Wednesday evening at the office of E. O. McDowen in the Krieger building. Thereafter, meetings will be held every Friday evening. Any Portsmouth teacher is welcome to enroll in the class. The subject Wednesday evening will be "Rural Sociology."

ALL LOVELY NOW, EXPERTS SAY THAT NEW BRIDGE IS O. K.

Frank V. Knauss and Henry Faivre inspected the new county bridge yesterday and pronounced it good. Mr. Knauss represented the Stone and Raue Works and Mr. Faivre represented the Hammer Club.

"This bridge," said Mr. Faivre, "is made on the principle of a shoe. When you construct a shoe you begin at the top and leave the foundation, the sole, to the last. Then you commence—"

"Hold on there, don't it," said Mr. Knauss. "Don't talk shop; let's talk bridge. Now these girls ers and arches remind me for all the world of a first class range in the progress of evolution. Notice how they approach the—"

"Aw, cheese it, Frank. Who's talking shop now, I'd like to know!"

"By Ned, that's so," said Mr. Knauss, with that peculiar personally conducted smile of his. "Let's go and look at the other end of the thing."

They crossed over, and after their conversation ran to the arts, sciences, philosophy, politics, stoves, ranges and shoes.

PUT OUT YOUR BOTTLES

Portsmouth housewives can render the local dairymen invaluable assistance in adhering to the new edict requiring them to deliver milk in bottles by seeing to it that the empty bottles are delivered to their dairymen promptly.

The majority of the local dairymen are in hearty accord with all of the sanitary provisions required by the board of health in the sale and delivery of milk, but they complain that many of their customers are forgetful about putting the empty bottles out after they have been emptied.

One dairymen has recently placed an order for a large number of the latest approved milk bottles and is having them stamped with his name on them. He claims that in the past his customers have failed to return his bottles promptly, and that oftentimes he would run out of them, notwithstanding the fact that he had enough scattered about the city to take care of his trade for several days.

While the dairymen expect to encounter some loss of bottles, yet they believe that if the majority of their customers realize the accommodation that they will be doing to the milk dealers by returning the bottles promptly, part of the inconvenience will be avoided.

Speaks Here Tonight

M'DERMOTT STONE COMPANY'S FOREMAN HAS SOMETHING TO SAY

Ten miles west of Portsmouth is the McDermott stone quarry, which is by far the largest quarry in this section of the state. Located on the N. & W. railroad the McDermott quarry presents an interesting spectacle to the passerby, showing the effect of great quantities of dynamite used in blasting out the ledges of rock.

William Banks is quarry foreman for the McDermott Co., Mr. Banks' P. O. is Arion, Ohio. While recently a caller at The Fisher & Streich Drug Store in Portsmouth, Mr. Banks made the following statement regarding the famous Tanlac treatment:

"I am glad to say a word of appreciation for Tanlac. My work had become an awful drudge on account of stomach trouble and a rundown condition, when Tanlac came to the rescue. I feel a hundred percent better since taking this remedy. I cheerfully recommend it."

A great number of people in the nearby towns to Portsmouth are calling at The Fisher & Streich store and telling of the remarkable results that they are daily, and courteously explaining receiving from the use of Tanlac. Tanlac.

CARELESSNESS CAUSED FIRE DECLARES CHIEF

Fire Chief W. A. McQuat reports that an investigation he made of Tuesday afternoon's fire in the four-story brick building at No. 539 Front street, showed that it started in a middle room on the top floor and was caused by a gas stove with no floor protection.

Chief McQuat said he called attention of the owner of the building, W. H. Hanna, to the fact that there were several other gas stoves in the building without protection. All of the rooms were let to the tenants as furnished. The fire alarm was turned in at 3:15 p. m. and out was sounded at 3:46. Four streams of hose were played on the fire, one in the rear, two up the front stairway and the fourth a dry line, which was the last brought into action, up the high ladder. The firemen were praised on all sides for keeping the fire, which had gotten a good start, before discovered and was fanned by a stiff breeze, confined to the top floor. The loss of the various tenants consisted of their clothes and personal belongings.

Mr. Hanna's loss will exceed $1,000. He carried $25,000 insurance on the building and $700 on the furniture. Fireman Art Hudson had his hands severely scorched while fighting the flames. The damage to the building and property of the Living Drew Shoe Company was slight. Superintendent William E. Clayton started making repairs as soon as the blaze was out, and before 5:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon had the skylight completely repaired.

Marriage Ends The Trouble

Following their marriage Tuesday evening by Squire A. J. Finney, the cases against Chester Lucas and Irene Parker were dismissed in juvenile court by Judge Beatty. Lucas was arrested Monday on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of the girl, who is only 16 years old. Both live in New Boston, where the bridegroom is employed at the steel plant.

Was Not Hi Yaller

Just as expected by the local police officials, the suspect at Columbus who was thought to be "Hi Yaller," alleged gunman in the Baucus murder case, was not the man. Says the State Journal:

"Thomas Dorsey, aged 38, a negro, Pittsburgh, who was arrested for carrying a 45-caliber revolver early Saturday morning in a South Seventh street resort, was bound over to the grand jury in police court yesterday. His bond was set at $500."

"Detective John R. Hardman, of the Norfolk and Western Railroad Company, went to police headquarters yesterday to identify Dorsey as 'Hi Yaller,' who is wanted for killing James A. Baucus at Portsmouth December 6. Detective Hardman says the negro resembles the man wanted, but is not the one."

"Dorsey, who also is known as Dawson, is said to be wanted in Pittsburgh for violating his parole from the state penitentiary for a murder there."

Teachers On Visit

C. M. Lehr, director of the Pike Normal school, and a party of seventeen teachers visited the Portsmouth public schools Wednesday, making the round trip in automobiles. Those in the party were: Messrs. Walter Richardson, Harold Bessington, Maurice Booth, William J. Bailey, William A. Lester, and Leslie Bowman; Misses Katherine Greenman, Nellie Fishburn, Nell Santer, Anne Markham, Jessie Frost, Hattie Slay, Bessie Baumgarner, Elizabeth and Irene Moore.

W. O. W. CIRCLE

The Woodmen of the World Circle, River City Grove No. 94, held their regular meeting Tuesday evening, which was largely attended. Five applications were balloted upon. Mrs. Della Alvord, who had charge of the degree team, has moved to Columbus, and Captain L. Janetzky has taken charge of the team. It was decided to have a class initiation and big spread two weeks from Tuesday night. The following six candidates will be initiated: Misses Lillie Hamilton, Margaret Holbrook, Lillie Collingsworth, Mrs. Nora Reno, Mrs. Virginia Stevens and Henry Teller.

MEETING AT CRABTREE

TIMES IN ERROR

The Times was in error Tuesday when it stated that the supporters of Mrs. Ethel Cotton Schwartz were desirous of having her name printed on the ballot as a candidate for a short term of two years against Dr. E. C. Jackson.

Mrs. Schwartz and her co-workers insisted from the start that the board of elections could not be governed by the resolution passed by the board of education last week, certifying Dr. Jackson as a candidate for a short term, and that each of the four candidates were before the people as candidates for the legal term of four years.

In the end, their view was taken by the board of elections, and all four candidates, who include George D. Scudder, J. P. Purdum, Dr. E. C. Jackson and Mrs. Ethel Cotton Schwartz, and their names will go on the ballot together, three of them to be elected.

The Times secured its information Tuesday from an officer of the board, which was printed just as he gave it.

Dutch Lunch

The public is cordially invited to attend a Dutch Lunch Social, which will be held at the Grandview Avenue Christian church Thursday evening, October 28th.

Home Rule Jottings

No. 10

Don't fail to hear Hon. T. E. J. Floyd at Kendall Hall tonight.

The Drys appealed to the people last night not to pay attention to what was being said about their statements about Home Rule last fall.

In other words what they said last fall is to be forgotten, because it is so inconvenient to be brought face to face with it now.

Chickens must be coming home to roost.

Some more news from Prohibition Kansas: The 1914 Statistical Abstract of the United States sets forth that in 1910 of 228,594 families having homes in the above state, 76,726 of the homes were mortgaged. In other words one home in three is pledged as security for loans. Dry Kansas has been the Prohibition Paradise for years. Do you want the same conditions in Ohio?

Labor News from Dry Kansas: The 1914 report of the Kansas Department of Labor and Industry shows that in 365 establishments employing 10,854 women, 34 per cent of these received less than $6.00 per week, 21 per cent work ten hours or more per day, and over half worked 54 hours per week or longer.

Where do dry conditions benefit the worker?

News from Dry Georgia:

Georgia recently had to sell $3,500,000 of bonds to meet expenses. Since when has wet Ohio had to sell bonds?

J. Campbell Cantrill, Democratic Member of Congress from Kentucky said in the debate over the Hobson Prohibition Resolution in Congress "The theory of prohibition is that a hundred men of temperate habits must have their personal rights denied because the one man is intemperate. This spirit, to my mind, is un-American and undemocratic."

Shall we have a free citizenship, or one controlled in their social habits by arbitrary and almost military power?

Luke McLuke says:

Unusual Complaints Are Made To Police

Two unusual complaints were received at police headquarters Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Jennie Colvin, wife of Geo. N. Colvin, a veneer worker, of No. 1201 Findlay street, appealed to the officials to assist her in recovering $5 from the owners of a local store. She had made first payment to that extent on a coat she had just purchased, but changed her mind before leaving the store, and claimed the firm refused to return her money. Officer Joe Stodley was dispatched to the store with instructions to attempt an amicable adjustment, but found the merchants firm in their stand. He told them that it was not for him to say what they should do in the matter, but expressed the belief that the woman's money should be returned.

The Harbison-Walker Company lodged complaint that a man had $10 of its money. The man, it seems, dropped into the company's office Saturday evening to have a ten dollar gold piece changed. The company was engaged in making out its payroll at the time the change was handed to the man. Some time after he departed the payroll was found to be ten dollars shy, and it was at once concluded that the man had been given twenty dollars, instead of ten dollars in change. The man said he was unaware of anything of the kind, though declaring such a thing could have been possible, and put up ten dollars with the police officials pending the introduction of proper proof that it belonged to the company.

MOOSE ENTERTAINED WITH SOCIAL SESSION

A most enjoyable evening was spent by Loyal Order of Moose at their club rooms last night, over 200 being present. A splendid talk was made by Dictator Y. M. Keel on the order and its purposes. C. W. Wilson's lecture on a trip to Moosehart and what he saw there was a gem. Mr. Wilson's talk dealt with the Moosehart idea and the construction and administration of the city of Moosehart. Also how it was built and the manner in which the children and in-firm live there. Splendid buffet lunch was served by the committee in charge, including Elmer Rader, C. Evans and Wm. Krusch. This is only one of several occasions of the kind that will be held this coming winter. Plans are being made to entertain the ladies with a social session once a month. A minstrel show under the management of Fitzhugh Lee will be given about Dec. 1 in Moose hall, the entire proceeds to be given to Moosehart as Peerless lodge's Christmas gift to this worthy institution. A big pig roast for members only is on the program for next Tuesday night when election returns will be read at the club rooms.

Marietta, Ohio, Oct. 27—Alfred Sprecher, son of Mrs. Mary E. Sprecher of Portsmouth, is among the large number of new enrolled students with the Marietta College this fall. The student body shows an increase of twenty-eight percent over the number attending the local college during the last school year. There has been considerable increases in all branches of the college this year to accommodate the larger number of students.

QUITS

John Kayser, saloonist at 1143 Tenth street, voluntarily closed up his place of business Tuesday, and will retire. He assigns poor business as his reason for closing. Mr. Kayser was granted a renewal of his license for the coming year by the county licensing board last week, but he will not open up again.

CORRECTION IN AD

The printer who "set" Marting Bros. Co., advertisement and which appeared in Tuesday evening's Times, evidently thought the price asked for an 18x36 rag rug was too cheap, for he raised the price from 29 cents to 68 cents. The rug was priced at exactly 29 cents and that is what they are selling for, although at the price of 68 cents they are considered quite cheap.

Woman Arms Self And Starts Out To Find Bold Bad, Burglar

Mrs. Bettle M. Moore, a boarding-house keeper of No. 812 Offshore street, exhibited rare pluck during a burglar's visit to her home about 8:30 o'clock Tuesday night.

When police officers reached the scene in response to a call from a neighbor, Mrs. Emil Arthurs, they found Mrs. Moore calmly making a search of her rear yard, with a gun having been frightened away in hand, and ready for action. At Mrs. Moore was engaged in doing small work, when she had summoned her to her home when she heard footsteps on the back porch. An instant later she heard the screen door pulled open and the door-knob turning. She called twice, asking who was there, but received no response. She walked to the front part of the house, forgetting to summon police over the telephone in her hallway, as she passed through, instead calling to her neighbors.

Probers have been active in the same neighborhood for the past several nights, and on Monday evening a rough-looking negro was seen loitering in a stable at the rear of Smith & Lockman's grocery, corner of Ninth and Offshore streets.

A watch was stolen from a home in the same neighborhood Tuesday.

PROHIBITION PROHIBITS SAYS HOME RULE JOTTINGS:

Did you see this: "As soon as Prohibition is in force, they will do their best to prevent you from drinking. It is now impossible to have liquor shipped into Arizona and West Virginia."

Luke McLuke says: A Prohibitionist won't believe it. But the fact of the matter is that most of the men who enter a saloon DO NOT GO IN to start a Snake Fight and swell the ill-Gotten Gains of the Demon Rum with the money that should be used in buying shoes for the baby. Most of the Poor Weak-Minded Reprobates go into a Gilded Hell Hole because they know they can get a glass of beer and 10 cents worth of Free Lunch all for a nickel.

BUD WARNER SAYS: You're right, Luke. Except that a host of the men who entered the saloon with just those intentions buy an OVERDOSE of BOOZE before they get out, "start a Snake Fight and swell the ill-Gotten Gains of the Demon Rum with the money that should be used in buying shoes for the baby." All because THEY WERE BAITED with "a glass of beer and 10 cents worth of Free Lunch all for a nickel."

BANDITS ROB PASSENGER TRAIN

BLOW ONE SAFE. FAIL AT 3 OTHERS; LEAVE PASSENGERS ALONE; BID CREW GOOD NIGHT; MAKE THEIR ESCAPE

Oklahoma City, Oct. 27.—South-bound Missouri, Kansas and Texas passenger train No. 9, was held up and robbed at 2 o'clock this morning, two miles south of Onaga and nine miles north of Eufala, on the main line from Parsons to Denison, by ten or more masked bands, who blew the safe in one express car, obtained an unknown amount of money and valuables, failed to open three other safes and escaped without attempting to rob passengers.

The bandits boarded the train at Okemah, or some point north of the robbery scene, climbed over the baggage and mail cars and forced the engineer, at the point of rifles, to stop the train. Then they went back to the coaches, found the conductor and forced him to open the express car. For more than an hour the bandits worked and five charges of nitro-glycerine were exploded before the safe was opened. One safe was attempted in the second express car, and two in the third, but neither yielded to repeated attempts to open them.

A dozen or more shots were fired by the bandits during the robbery. A portion of the robbers guarded the train crew who were lined up along the side of the track, others guarded the passenger coaches, and some went back along the track to stop a freight train behind the passenger.

A brakeman from the robbed train was shot through the finger when he attempted to escape. The engineer of the freight train behind escaped from his captors and ran to Onaga, giving the alarm.

After abandoning their work, the robbers are said to have thanked the train crew and wished them good-night, disappearing into the darkness, apparently on foot.

Serbs Turn On Bulgars; Smash One Strong Line

Saloniki, Oct. 26.—(Via Paris, Oct. 27.)—The Bulgarians have been completely driven out of Serbia on a line extending from the French sector to Krigdalo and Lukedovan. They have been pushed back also from Veleto to the outskirts of Istip, probably rendering their Kumanovo-Vranja line untenable owing to the menace of a Serbian attack on both sides.

Offensive operations against Nish have not proceeded beyond Pilot. The Austro-Germans are making the most violent efforts but their progress is extremely slow. The city of Nish is tranquil and seems to be in no immediate danger. The government refugees and the foreign legations have been moved only as far as Kraljevo where they are awaiting developments.

CALIFORNIA SWATS ALL AMENDMENTS

San Francisco, Oct. 27.—Returns early today from yesterday's state election indicated that the proposition to make all state offices non-partisan had been defeated by a majority of about 20,000. Nine constitutional amendments met a similar fate, the vote having been remarkably light.

The defeat of the non-partisan measures, against which the referendum was invoked after they had been passed by the legislature last spring, caused surprise. They were the principal measures advocated by Governor Hiram V. Johnson.

THE WEATHER

Ohio—Partly cloudy tonight, warmer in extreme west portion. Thursday partly cloudy and warmer.

AUSTRO-GERMANS AND BULGARS ARE TO SOON CLASP HANDS

London, Oct. 27.—Communication between the Austro-German and Bulgarian armies is on the point of being established, and the dispatch of munitions to Constantinople is expected to begin within a few days, according to information from Trans-Siberia. Rumors sent to the Times by its correspondent in Bucharest.

This communication is being effected in the northeastern corner of Serbia, where the distance between the Hungarian and Bulgarian frontiers is only forty miles in a direct line.

The dispatch describes the Austro-German occupation of Tekia, which was accomplished after a bombardment lasting many hours. Austrian troops crossing the Danube in motor-boats.

The advance on Kladovo immediately followed. At four o'clock Tuesday morning Kladovo was in flames, the Serbians having started many fires. Refugees from Kladovo rushing to the Rumanian of the Danube, including civil authorities.

London, Oct. 27.—It is semi-officially announced in Berlin, says a dispatch from Rotterdam to the Daily Telegraph, that all the important harbors in Eastern Serbia, on the Danube, are in possession of the Bulgarians, and that further access for the Serbians by way of Rumania is therefore stopped.

The Serbian town of Radicevatz was completely destroyed in the fighting and Monastir is being evacuated by Serbians. A dispatch to the Lokal Anzeiger asserts that the Serbian fortress of Pilot is completely surrounded.

TYPHOON KILLS 170

Manila, Oct. 27.—The typhoon in Southern Luzon killed at least 170 persons and injured nearly 800. Damage to property and total hemp and rice crops is estimated at $1,000,000. A heavy landslide involved a portion of the volcano of Mayon.

OPPOSE BIG ENGINES

Charleston, W. Va., Oct. 27.—The West Virginia Public Service commission has received a complaint from trainmen on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad against the use of big locomotives between Parkersburg and Grafton, W. Va. They point out that between those points, a distance of 100 miles, there are 23 tunnels and that it is almost impossible for the enginemen to do their work without being in danger of suffocation.

Women Favor Sunday Movement

A striking feature of the Sunday Motion Picture Question is that Sunday opening of the picture shows is generally favored by the women of Portsmouth, including many who take a deep interest in church work and church attendance. The reasons given by them in urging that the matter be submitted to a vote are chiefly two:

1. Sunday offers the only opportunity for many women,---if not the majority of them,---to join their husbands or friends in seeking harmless recreation. Through the week, after the husband has put in a hard day's work and the wife is pressed with household duties, there is little incentive to many of them to visit the motion picture shows together in the evening. These women feel that on the long Sunday afternoons during the winter, they with their husbands and all who may conscientiously do so, have the right to enjoy the educational facilities afforded by the motion picture, just as during the summer recreation is offered on Sunday through the parks, street cars, bathing beaches, etc. They believe that those who are fortunate enough to get their Sunday recreation through automobile rides, golf, boating, etc., should not begrudge others the less expensive enjoyment of the moving picture show.

2. The motion picture show is a powerful agent for good. A prominent student of social conditions remarked not long ago: "Idleness, whether mental or physical, is the root of evil." And Sunday, while it is a day of rest, is also a day of idleness for the young men and women of a town or city. What is, in the beginning, a perfectly innocent desire to "find something to do," often ends in disorderly and sometimes destructive mischief---when it is no worse---all because the young people are at their wits' end to find some healthy form of amusement. The motion picture theatre offers a solution of the problem, with its special Sunday concerts, its lectures, its well-chosen and legally censored pictures on appropriate and uplifting subjects; and it can do more than any agency except the church itself toward helping a city to answer the question, "What shall our young people do on Sundays?"

Champion On Typewriter

New York, Oct. 27.—Miss Margaret B. Owen, of New York, has again won the world's championship as a typewriter operator and the $1,000 trophy which goes with the title. Miss Owen maintained for an hour an average of 136 words a minute. Her previous record was 132 words a minute.

BILLY SUNDAY DOWNED IN CONTEST OF BRAWN

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 27.—"Billy" Sunday was thrown flat on his back here. The Rev. Billy liked it and came back repeatedly for more. No, he was not downed by liquor, nor the evil influences of Omaha, where he has been holding revival meetings. Nor did any of his enemies get the best of him.

It was Farmer Burns, ex-heavyweight champion wrestler of the world, who threw Billy Sunday in a friendly wrestling bout in Sunday's room at the Loyal Hotel.

Farmer Burns went to the room of the evangelist just to meet him. Billy was greatly interested in the leathery muscles of the giant wrestler, veteran of many hard-fought mat battles.

"So you are Farmer Burns," exclaimed the evangelist, over and over again, as he flipped his Bible down on the dresser and turned to the caller. "Strip off your shirt. I want to see your muscles."

Burns stripped.

"Billy" Sunday felt the great muscles. "Say, man," he said, "they're just like hands of steel. I can't understand how any human being can be so developed."

Then Billy leaped into a corner, threw off his shirt, girded up his trousers belt, and declared he must have a match with the wrestler. "I want you to show me all the latest holds," he said. "I want to know what it is like to go up against a perfect human machine like you. I want to get the experience."

"One, two, three, go!" and the great wrestler and the great evangelist were tugging and hauling at a catch-as-catch-can match.

The evangelist was not slow, and in fact exhibited a great deal of strength and agility, but the huge Farmer was too much for him. Once he pinned him down with a bar hammer lock, once with a hip-lock, once with a scissors, and still Billy, considerably worse for the scuffle, asked to be shown more.

"And this fellow never drank, smoked, chewed or dissipated," said Sunday, when he had washed his face, smoothed down his hair and put on a clean collar. "I'm going to use his case as an example in my sermons."

Cincinnati, Oct. 27.—The recommendation of Superintendent Condon, of the public schools of this city that a school for baseball umpires be established in the Second Industrial school, one class for beginners and the other for advanced pupils, to be in charge of William Hart and William Carpenter, former National League umpires, was approved today by the board of education.

ALL LOVELY NOW, EXPERTS SAY THAT NEW BRIDGE IS O. K.

Frank V. Knauss and Henry Faivre inspected the new county bridge yesterday and pronounced it good. Mr. Knauss represented the Slove and Range Works and Mr. Faivre represented the Hammer Club.

"This bridge," said Mr. Faivre, "is made on the principle of a shoe. When you construct a shoe you begin at the top and leave the foundation, the sole, to the last. Then you commence—"

"Hold on there, that it," said Mr. Knauss, "don't talk shop; let's talk bridge. Now these girders and arches remind me for all the world of a first class shoe in the progress of evolution. Notice how they approach the—"

Quakers Beaten

McDermott, Ohio, Oct. 27.—The McDermott Champions made good their boast that they are the best amateur tennis in Scioto county by winning the deciding game of a three game series from the fast Portsmouth Quakers by the score of 20 to 9.

It is understood that Pitcher Myers of McDermott will receive a tryout with the Columbus American Association team next season. Myers is without a doubt the best amateur pitcher in Scioto county and should make good in fast company. The score:

Frank Moran.

If Jess Willard's going to box Frank Moran he'd better do it in a hurry, else he'll sure enough risk losing that heavyweight title when he does go in the ring to face the Pittsburgh giant.

There's only one real place to stage a Willard-Moran match at this time, and that's New York. Moran and Coffey pulled a gate of $25,118 when they got together in New York the other night in a no-decision contest. Willard and Moran would draw around $50,000 in New York.

PUT OUT YOUR BOTTLES

Portsmouth housewives can render the local dairymen invaluable assistance in adhering to the new edict requiring them to deliver milk in bottles by seeing to it that the empty bottles are delivered to their dairymen promptly.

The majority of the local dairymen are in hearty accord with all of the sanitary provisions required by the board of health in the sale and delivery of milk, but they complain that many of their customers are forgetful about putting the empty bottles out after they have been emptied.

One dairymen has recently placed an order for a large number of the latest approved milk bottles and is having them stamped with his name on them. He claims that in the past his customers have failed to return his bottles promptly, and that, oftentimes, he would run out of them, notwithstanding the fact that he had enough scattered about the city to take care of his trade for several days.

While the dairymen expect to encounter some loss of bottles, yet they believe that if the majority of their customers realize the accommodation that they will be doing to the milk dealers by returning the bottles promptly, part of the inconvenience will be avoided.

JUST LIKE US.

Champions of the Teutonic powers get much cheer out of the relative positions of the London and Berlin papers. They think all is going wrong in England because a part of the press is furious in its criticisms of the government, while the whole German press has nothing but praise for the administration of the Kaiser. They forget, or do not know the difference of the planes upon which journalism in the two countries is conducted. In England it is not alone the right, but the business of papers to find fault and express it, when not in party harmony with the cabinet, which is the actual government. They are just like the papers here, which praise only the representatives of their own party and find fault only with the opposition. In Germany this is not the case, especially under present conditions. Censuring the government is in the least sedition and mostly construed as treason. So that whenever a paper "gets gay" and somewhat freely speaks its mind to the displeasure of the powers, it is promptly suppressed, its editors fined and generally lucky in getting off without jail sentence.

In which country the rule is most desirable we can hardly say, though it does seem the German methods, here as elsewhere, are most expedient and likewise most efficient, when war is on. It is a pretty safe guess anyway that the slowness of British criticism complained of is the result of merely partisan fault finding with the conduct of affairs.

A BILLION BUSHEL.

The unprecedented yield of more than a billion of bushels of wheat in the United States, this year, is still a matter of gladness and comment and boast. Of course, as it means so much to the prosperity of the country, especially when there is such a demand as to command inordinately high prices there is much cause for gratulation, but the boasting of it is hardly justified, for abnormalism of the yield, but exaggerates our inefficiency as agriculturists. With the acreage devoted to it the crop ought to have been two billion bushels instead of only one. For the average field did not produce more than twenty bushels, while it ought to have been forty and could have been made even higher than that with right cultivation. The truth is our farming is done altogether too much on luck, so to speak. The seed is sown and nature is expected to do the rest, generally disappointing. It is not so in Europe, in Germany above all places. There they depend on work and method a yield of fifty bushels to the acre is the rule and not the exception.

And even though our civilization be lax our waste is worse. Travel over any part of the country and put observation and thought into your journey and you will be astounded, yes, almost grieved to see how much land is lying idle and unproductive. Verily, even in our most thickly populated states there is soil never tilled by the plow that if made productive would yield sufficient to support twice their present population.

The state license commission and the federal census bureau should get together. The first gives the Peerless 20,000 population and the last 30,000. It wouldn't be fair, though, to split the difference. Portsmouth had, according to the count of 1910 nearly 24,000. Not only has there been increase in the limits of that year, but thousands have been added by extending the corporation line, of which latter the federal bureau does not take account in its estimates.

The glad hand is given to Dumbo on his return home, which is simply reversing the proverb, a man is not without honor, save in his own country.

What the landmen can't understand is, why don't they set the submarines after each other, instead of helpless merchant ships?

It is the same story with the Peerless, this year, overcrowded schools. And at that two of the largest schools have been opened for the first time.

It is painful how off the fate of the nation hangs trembling in the balance. Just listen at the old gang jaw-smiths talking about the national election of next year depending on this little municipal affair.

No, Harry Bannon hasn't cut loose yet in this campaign, but there are four days until election and Harry generally bobs up at the heel of the thing.

The second year of the war will cost at least twice as much as the first. Evidently somebody is going to go broke if the thing keeps up.

National preparedness has a nice, smooth sound, but just wait until the bills should come in.

For two whole weeks that temporary bridge hasn't so much as threatened to go out.

Surest sign we are all busy, there hasn't been any new hotel talk for a month.

SENDING FORTH A DOVE

ESSENTIALS AND HELP.

New ideas and methods, that are popularly ridiculed as fads, are being introduced into the public schools, in the fond belief that they will make more proficient the education attained therein.

Our own view is that public education, in the sense of its imparting knowledge should be based primarily on spelling, reading, writing, arithmetic, grammar, composition and civil government, that is pupils should be thoroughly grounded in these in beginning and continuance. Whatever other studies may be added are more in the nature of cultivation, but nothing that the pupil is taught, or rather learns is either wasted, or useless. There is bound to be profit in any worthy knowledge a student acquires. It may not be of practical purpose, but it broadens and deepens his mind and the fact that he has mastered it quickens his understanding and enables him to take quicker hold of the bigger and severe lessons he has got to learn, if he would as much as modestly succeed, in the great school of existence.

And after all the finest thing in education is not the material success it brings us. There is pleasure infinite in mere knowledge. There is nothing so rare an enjoyment as a varied learning, a wide information. It lends interest to most common things, it finds enchantment where it is hidden to the eyes of ignorance and it brings absorbing communings that are too sweet and sacred to be roughened into words. It is the mighty engine that sends imagination to pulse and throb the world and give it glimpse of the sublime.

President Wilson and his bride-to-be are spared any trouble in the matter, the newspapers are laying down the plans of the wedding for them and even building the bride's trousseau, without any selection on her part.

NEW-YORK-DAY-BY-DAY

O-O-MEINTYRE.

New York, Oct. 27.—Main Street, Good Ground, L. I. is ninety miles from the Fifth Avenue retail millinery zone and it would hardly be supposed that a lady in possession of her senses and two hundred dollars would journey to Good Ground to buy a hat. But many do.

Good Ground, is the hunting ground of Charles F. Murphy, sometimes mentioned in connection with Tammany Hall. The famous milliner is Walter H. King, and his shop is in the family garage. His hats bear the stamp: "Not Imported." He began making hats for his mother when she did not have the cash to buy them. He developed an artistic style that makes neighbors gasp.

When he got out of college he decided that he would become a milliner. If his hats were beautiful, ladies would come to him. He does not think that because a man is born in France he can make a better hat than if he had been born in America. He thinks art is the result of thought expressed simply and sincerely.

So the Good Ground man milliner evolves his creation in a garage and beautiful women come by the scores to buy them.

The genial Enrico Caruso is back at Forty-Second and Broadway. Caruso's coming means much to the taxi-starters, bell boys, hat boys, phone girls, waiters and clerks of the Knickerbocker where he holds forth in a royal suite. He brings each a present—sometimes it is gold and other times it is some fitting gift he has purchased abroad.

When he arrived the other day the excitement around the hotel was dynamic. He was held up down the bay by a fog for five hours and the wait that arose was pathetic in the extreme. It got so distressing that James B. Regan, the hotel proprietor, sent a special tug down the bay to get the singer off the liner, but he was busy in a card game and decided to wait until the fog lifted.

Leslie Thresher, the artist, lives in a studio apartment in Gramercy Park. Below him lives a convivial husband who now and then comes home in time for the milkman's matinee. The other morning he dodged enough lamp-posts to arrive home just before breakfast.

His wife, who has quite a sharp tongue, was waiting for him. She stood in the doorway and glared at him fiercely as he stepped off the elevator.

"Ish houn on fire?" he asked sheepishly.

"No," she snapped.

"Well, 'I'd know thash, I wouldn't been'n slush a hurry 't' get home."

The return of Julia Arthur to the stage will be quite an event in New York where she has long been a popular favorite. Her opening play will be "The Eternal Magdalene." Miss Arthur has been living quietly with her husband near Boston.

When she came over to see her managers she was told that a restored dodo had been put on exhibition that day at the Museum of Natural History.

"Well, well," she said. "Now for a restored umbrella and the collection of rarities will be complete."

"Little Hungary" the famed restaurant on the East Side, has decided to move to Broadway. It wants to get in the centre of action. Business has fallen off in the past few years since the transportation facilities to Little Hungary were so poor. With the Broadway atmosphere it expects to regain its old popularity. One of the attractions of the place was that a diner can have all the wine he can drink free with his meal.

Quarterly Meeting Of Endeavor Societies Held Tuesday Night

At the regular quarterly meeting of the Scioto County Christian Endeavor Union held Tuesday evening in the Sunday school room at the First Presbyterian church it was shown by short talks and reports that great interest is being manifested in all branches of Christian Endeavor work in the city and county.

A motion was passed opposing the opening of Sunday moving picture shows.

The Second Presbyterian Christian Endeavor was represented by seventeen members, the largest number in attendance from any one Endeavor. The Christian, Grandview Avenue Christian and First Presbyterian Endeavors were well represented. The devotional services were in the hands of the First Presbyterian Endeavors who served refreshments at the close of the evening program.

The meeting was opened with a prayer by Joseph Bratt, one of the leaders in Endeavor work here. Songs by the congregation followed. Miss Susie Evans, secretary of the S. C. C. E. Union, read reports from the Grandview Avenue Christian and Christian church Endeavors which showed the Endeavors to be in a very flourishing and good financial condition.

President Lloyd Craden took charge of the meeting at the close of the prayer and song service. Treasurer Joseph Bratt gave his report which shows a neat sum in the treasury.

Rev. O. B. Catlin, superintendent of "Quite Hour Work," made a short report on his line of Endeavor work. The "Quite Hour Work" is something just recently taken up by the Endeavors. Rev. Catlin reported that it had been decided to observe Sunday, December 12, as "Quite Hour Day." The different Endeavors should have special programs on this day.

Cecil Sarver, corresponding secretary, and who is in charge of publicity, reported that he had written letters to almost every church in the county regarding the organization of Christian Endeavors.

The following motion was made and unanimously passed: "Be it the sense of this body as Christian Endeavors to keep the Sabbath and oppose the opening of the moving picture theatres on the Sabbath."

President Craden made a few remarks concerning the different phases of the Christian Endeavor work. He made an appeal for a large number of delegations from Scioto County Christian Endeavors to attend the State Convention to be held in Springfield, Ohio, in June, 1916.

Mr. Craden outlined the work expected of Christian Endeavors in Scioto county in the next two years. "Scioto county's share of 'The Campaign for Millions' is 250 new converts, 250 new Endeavors, 250 new members to Peace Union, three new C. E. societies, fifty new comrades of the Quite Hour, three new Endeavor experts, three new members to the Tenth Legion, ten subscribers to the C. E. World, three Life Work Recruits.

Each Endeavor has the following seven committees: Lookout, Prayer, Missionary, Social, Music, Sick and Sunshine, Christian Citizenship. To get a better idea of how each of the committees in other churches was carrying on its work meetings of the different committees were held. This made seven meetings, four churches being represented in each meeting.

Rev. George P. Horst, pastor of Second Presbyterian church, who has put new life into the Christian Endeavor Society in his church, was called upon for a short talk and responded splendidly. Rev. Horst is a leader in Christian Endeavor work.

Thursday Meetings

Another whirlwind campaign of the eastern part of the county will be made by the wets Thursday with C. S. Magruder, editor of the Liberal Advocate, of Columbus, as the principal speaker. The speaking schedule is as follows: 9 a. m., Firebrick; 9:45, Effort; 10:30, Bloom; 11:15, South Webster; 4:30, Scioto; 7:00, Sciotoville.

BIRTHS

A winsome little baby daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sammelbeck at their home, corner Pleasant and Lincoln streets, Tuesday. The child is their first-born. The young mother before her marriage was Miss Isabel Quastel.

NO EIGHT-HOUR DAY FOR CUPID AT THE WHITE HOUSE; WILSON'S DOCTOR TO WED

Miss Alice Gertrude Gordon.

Cupid is not on a strike for the eight-hour day at the White House. Following the marriage of the president's daughter, and the announcement of the president's engagement, as well as the engagement of Miss Isabelle Hagan, White House social secretary, it is now rumored on the best of authority that Dr. Cary T. Grayson, the president's personal physician, is engaged to marry Miss Gertrude Gordon, a Washington belle.

MR. BRYAN CONTINUES PLEA FOR A DRY OHIO

London, O., Oct. 27.—Continuing his plea for a dry Ohio, former Secretary of State William J. Bryan delivered here this morning the first of a series of speeches he was to make today in the central and northwestern parts of the state.

"I have been interested in reforms and have seen a number of reforms grow, beginning with denunciation and growing until the nation has accepted them, but I have never seen a reform grow rapidly as the prohibition cause," said the speaker. "The cause is certain to succeed. You may delay it, but you cannot prevent it."

Other towns in which Mr. Bryan will speak in behalf of the proposed state-wide prohibition amendment are Springfield, Urbana, Belfontaine, Kenton, Findlay, Bowling Green and Toledo.

The Bryan party, traveling on a special train, came here from Columbus, where last night Mr. Bryan was the principal speaker at what was declared to be one of the largest temperance meetings ever held in Ohio.

Foot Is Mashed

William Rangan, of Sixth and Glover streets, who is at the head of the Rangan boiler works in the North End, had his left foot mashed Tuesday, when a heavy block fell on it.

Ink Eradicator.
A very good way to remove ink stains from cloth is to wash them with boiled rice. Rub the rice on the stains, as you may soap and wash with clear water. If the first application does not complete the cure repeat the process. It usually works like a charm, even if stains are perfectly dry.

QUEEN WILHELMINA ATTENDS OPENING OF DUTCH PARLIAMENT

Arrow points to Queen Wilhelmina.

Queen Wilhelmina attended the opening session of the lower house of the stadsen general, the legislative branch of the Netherlands, corresponding to the United States house of representatives. The picture shows the queen leaving the chamber after an address to the members.

Former Legislator Speaks Here Tonight

Hon. F. E. Lloyd, former member of the Illinois State Legislature, will deliver an address this evening at Distel's hall, corner of Seventh and Chillicothe streets, on the subject, "The Fallacy of Prohibition."

A band concert by the River City Band will precede his address.

KNIFE VICTIM DIES

James McCaleb, an Ironton negro, was so badly stabbed, following a fight Monday, that he died at the Deaconess hospital in that city Tuesday. McCaleb had been working for the Ohio Valley Traction company of this city, who are building an extension of their line from Sciotoville to Ironton.

Now It Is The N. & W. That Buys More Cars

The Norfolk and Western railroad, according to information given out shortly, will begin the construction of 1,000 steel coal cars. The order will be filled at the road's shops in Roanoke, Va. Each car will have a hauling capacity of 20 tons, which means they will be the largest cars for this purpose yet constructed by any road. As the cars are completed they will be put into commission.

GRAND OPERA ARTISTS

Portsmouth high school's large auditorium is expected to be filled Thursday evening when the Grand Opera Artists appear as the opening number on the P. H. S. lecture course.

OBITUARY

Miss Florence Stella McCall

Conscious to the last, and surrounded by her loved ones, and with a farewell prayer on her lips, Miss Florence Stella McCall, aged 38 years, the third daughter of George J. J. McCall, peacefully passed away at the family home, No. 121 Campbell avenue, Tuesday night, at 3 o'clock, after a lingering illness.

"Miss Dottie," as she was affectionately known to her relatives and many friends, had been in failing health for the past several months, though able to be up and about throughout her illness, even until the day before her untimely death.

Miss McCall was born at South Webster and was but 6 years of age when her mother, Mrs. Sue McCall, died. The greater part of her lifetime was spent in Portsmouth. She was a milliner by occupation, which she followed at Salt Lake City, Utah, in Colorado, and various other places in the West, always returning home between seasons.

Miss McCall was a member of Bigelow Methodist church and a young woman of lovely disposition. Besides her father and step-mother, she leaves to mourn her death six sisters and an only brother, Misses Harriet, Nell, Adah, Jean, McCall and Mrs. Paul Dailey, of this city. Mrs. W. O. Kinsley, of Lynchburg, Va., and Dudley McCall, at home.

The funeral arrangements have not as yet been definitely decided upon, but the services will probably take place from the bereaved home Thursday afternoon, at 2:30. Burial will take place in Greenlawn cemetery.

Infant Dies

Ralph, the one-month-old baby son of Fred Mowrey, a brick mason, of No. 2821 Ninth street, died shortly after midnight Tuesday, of erysipelas, with which he had been suffering ever since birth. The remains were taken to Greenup, Ky., Wednesday for burial.

John McClure Dever

John McClure Dever ten months old son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Dever of Salem, passed away several days ago, death being caused by an illness dating from birth.

The deceased was the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Dever and the death of their babe is keenly felt, the sympathies of the community being extended them in their sorrow. The funeral was held Tuesday with burial in Salem cemetery.

John S. Riekey

Relatives of John S. Riekey received word Tuesday of his death in Warrentown, Louisiana Monday. Mr. Riekey was an old Scioto county boy and had not been home for twenty-two years. This deceased passed away at Vicksburg, Miss., where he was temporarily employed in the lumber business. He was a son of J. M. Riekey and was born in Madison township over fifty years ago. He left Scioto county and located in the south when but nineteen years of age.

The deceased leaves a wife, and several small children besides his mother, Mrs. Mary A. Riekey, and the following brothers and sisters: A. L., Ernest E. and Orville B., of Madison township; Charles of O'Keen, Ark. Mrs. Gussie Smith of Madison township and Mrs. F. L. Nelson of Joliet, Montana.

SALOON MAN QUILTS

John Kayser, saloonist at 1143 Tenth street, voluntarily closed up his place of business Tuesday, and will retire. He assigns poor business as his reason for closing. Mr. Kayser was granted a renewal of his license for the coming year by the county licensing board last week, but he will not open up again.

Little to Worry About.
Investigation by the geological survey of the erosion of drainage basins proves that the surface of the country is being worn away at the rate of about an inch in 700 years.

Look for Matches.
Don't put away men's or boys' clothing for the winter or summer without first searching the pockets for matches. Mice will gnaw matches for the phosphorus. Bad fires are often started by them.

Woman Arms Self And Starts Out To Find Bold Bad, Burglar

Mrs. Bettie M. Moore, a boarding-house keeper of No. 810 Offene street, exhibited rare pluck during a burglar's visit to her home about 6:40 o'clock Tuesday night.

When police officers reached the scene, in response to a call from a neighbor, Mrs. Emil Arthurs, they found Mrs. Moore calmly making a search of her rear yard, with a gun in hand, and ready for action. A small boy, whom she had summoned in from off the street, was at her side, assisting in the search for the prowler. "I have a right to protect myself, haven't I?" earnestly asked Mrs. Moore, when she noticed the officers glancing strongly at the pistol in her hand.

The officers assured her that she had every right in the world to arm herself under such circumstances. Nothing was found disturbed about the premises, the prowler, evidently having been frightened away.

Mrs. Moore was engaged in doing some fancy work in the sitting-room of her home when she heard footsteps on the back porch. An instant later she heard the screen door pulled open and the door-knob turning. She called twice, asking who was there, but received no response. She walked to the front part of the house, forgetting to summon police over the telephone in her hallway, as she passed through, instead calling to her neighbors.

Prowlers have been active in the same neighborhood for the past several nights, and on Monday evening a rough-looking negro was seen looting from a stable at the rear of Smith & Lockbaum's grocery, corner of Ninth and Offene streets.

Dr. J. E. Pirrung Operates On Man With Broken Neck

Dr. J. Edward Pirrung, a son of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Pirrung, of No. 1614 Sixth street, this city, performed a surgical operation in Cincinnati Monday, that attracted much notice. The Engineer tells of it in the following manner:

"J. Kable, a wealthy young farmer, of Osceola, Ind., made a painful journey on a stretcher to this city yesterday morning, and when the train arrived a waiting ambulance took him to the new Good Samaritan Hospital on Clifton avenue.

Every inch of the trip was fraught with danger, for Kable had suffered a broken neck at his home several days ago by falling down stairs. Dr. J. Edward Pirrung, of the hospital staff, was apprised of the patient's coming and not a moment was lost in placing Kable on the operating table, where, under the benumbing anesthetic, the spinal cord was soon laid bare.

It was found that the fracture was between the fifth and sixth cervical vertebrae, and the splintered bone was soon removed. Last night Kable, supported on each side by sand bags preventing any movement, was resting as comfortably as the circumstances would permit."

Inspect Roads

State Engineer H. D. Ironmonger, of Columbus, and Engineer Wandlen, of Portsmouth, were here Tuesday looking after the state roads in this county, which are under construction.

They visited the tunnel, where state construction is going on, and also at Proctorville—Ironmonger.

At Steel Plant

Jacob Miller has accepted employment in the plant of the Whitaker-Glessner Company.

The Movies

"Tillie's Punctured Romance," the Funniest of All Comedy Pictures, Columbia Today

"Tillie's Punctured Romance," recognized as the funniest of all comedy pictures, plays a return engagement at the Columbia today. This great comedy in six reels (more than a full mile of film) has a good laugh in every foot. You will simply scream at the funny antics of Charlie Chaplin, Marie Dressler and Mabel Normand, the three greatest funmakers in motion pictures today.

Don't overlook this opportunity to have a good, hearty laugh at the Columbia today. First shows this afternoon at 1:30, then at 3 and 4:30. First evening show at 6:30, then at 8 and 9:30 and at 10 cents both afternoon and evening.

"The Christian" At the Lyric Today

It is estimated that nearly 2000 people saw "The Christian" at the Lyric theatre Tuesday. All who were able to get in pronounced the production a masterpiece. Don't miss your last chance to see this picture today. Earle Williams as "John Storn" plays the leading role in a masterful manner. Miss Edith Story plays opposite Mr. Williams and her work is superb.

Over 3000 people were employed in making "The Christian." Matinees start at 1:30 and 3:30 and evening performances at 6:30 and 8:30. No seats reserved, so come early.

Satisfied With Little.
The Australian bushmen wish only a shelter from the rain, and if they can find a cave or overhanging rock that will shelter them they will build no house. If there is no such natural shelter they select a place where small trees or bushes grow together and weave the branches together and cover them with grass. This forms a roof to keep off the rain.

RITCHIE IS BEATEN

New York, Oct. 27.—Johnny Dundee beat Willie Ritchie, the former lightweight champion of the world, in their bout at Madison Square Garden last night and beat him through all but about two of ten hot rounds.

ENLISTS CHILDREN IN THE NAVY LEAGUE

Mrs. Benjamin Reeves Russell.

Mrs. Benjamin Reeves Russell, wife of Lieut. Col. Russell of the U. S. marine corps, is the organizer of a children's auxiliary to the Navy League of the United States. The purpose of this new organization is to interest the children of America in preparedness for defense and the doctrine of "America First." Mrs. Mary S. Lockwood, also well known as a leader of the D. A. R., is the honorary chairman of the women's section under whose direction the movement is going forward.

STIRRING SOCIAL SEASON AHEAD FOR THE NEW "FIRST LADY"; OTHER LADIES OF OFFICIAL FAMILY MAKE-DEBUT THIS WINTER

The first big social event that Mrs. Galt will take part in after she becomes Mrs. Woodrow Wilson will be the New Year's reception at the White House. Then will follow a busy season of entertaining. Among the members of the cabinet circle who will make their debut as such this winter are Mrs. Eleanor Wilson, wife of the secretary of the treasury; Mrs. Robert Lansing, wife of the secretary of state, and Mrs. Thomas Watt Gregory, wife of the attorney general.
